NORTH HARRIS MONTGOMERY COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT
AT A GLANCE
North Harris Montgomery Community College District is recognized as one of the finest community college districts in the country, offering a wide range of academic and occupational courses for recent high school graduates and community residents of all ages. Since 1973, when North Harris College opened its doors to just 613 students, the college district service area has grown to 1,400 square miles, four campuses, more than 26,000 credit students each semester, and an additional 14,000 Community Education students.

NHMCCD is the fifth-largest community college district in Texas. Experts say no other state community college with a large student base will equal its growth rate over the coming decade. One of the reasons for the college district’s unrivaled growth is its steadfast commitment to job training, state-of-the-art technological tools and educational excellence. But another reason for this phenomenal growth is that NHMCCD’s service area is one of the fastest growing suburban areas in the United States. The population doubled from 1970 to 1990 and is expected to triple by the year 2000. The college district serves 5.5 percent of the entire state’s community college students.

Today NHMCCD continues to build a stellar reputation for its innovative programs, nationally renowned faculty and student-centered learning environments. Students attend the district’s colleges for diverse reasons:

• to obtain an associate’s degree or certificate;
• to transfer to a university;
• to gain new job skills;
• to change careers;
• to attain personal development goals.

One of the most crucial educational needs of a community is to provide a trained workforce. It’s a well-established cycle: Education generates a trained workforce, and a trained workforce fuels the economy. Experts say that a trained workforce is the critical factor in producing and maintaining a healthy economy.

It makes sense that the four NHMCCD colleges, The University Center, and numerous off-campus sites are accessible to students in all the college district’s neighborhoods. The whole idea is to deliver quality education close to home – where students can easily find credit and Community Education courses, quality faculty, career training, flexible schedules, academic advising and financial aid.

By reaching further into the community through off-campus sites and through distance education methods, the college district has found that those with the greatest need for education and job training – the historically underserved – are much more likely to conquer their educational challenges when education is within reach – financially and geographically. The same is true for students who have a need to be close to job training and other educational opportunities because of family or work demands.

COLLEGES AT A GLANCE

North Harris College

North Harris College, nestled on more than 200 acres of piney woods, is the original college campus. It is also the largest NHMCCD campus. With more than 60 programs of study, including university-transfer and numerous technical education courses and programs, North Harris College is keenly focused on leading-edge technology in emerging technical job fields. Programs of note include computer information systems, health information technology, interpreter training technology, machining technology, Montessori infant and toddler training, associate degree nursing, multimedia, and pharmacy technology. The college also is north Houston’s center for the arts, including a juried art gallery and comprehensive fine arts curriculum with a calendar full of free and low-cost theater, music, arts events, and exhibits.
To better serve residents in greater Greenspoint and south Aldine, North Harris College has opened two full-service satellite centers. North Harris College-Parkway Center is located near I-45 and Beltway 8 at 16416 Northchase Drive. North Harris College-Carver Center is located at 2330 S. Victory, in Acres Homes. Both centers offer day, evening and weekend classes in computers, English, speech, art appreciation, history, government, math, business and health, as well as many other university-transfer and job-preparatory courses. Student services in financial aid, admissions, library, career advisement and tutoring are available.

Kingwood College
Kingwood College is located on a beautifully landscaped 264-acre site. Besides offering traditional university-transfer courses, Kingwood College offers many stellar technical programs and continuing education options. Excellent faculty and facilities are provided for students entering fields of study in the sciences, computer technologies, social and behavioral sciences, fitness, humanities, fine arts, and performing arts. Kingwood College has the distinction of having two technical programs identified by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board as exemplary. They are computer graphic arts, and network administrator. Other programs of note include interior design, medical office specialist, desktop publishing, cosmetology, vocational nursing, respiratory care, and occupational therapy assistant. Under the umbrella of community education, Kingwood College offers a wide variety of workforce education programs, training through the Business and Industry Institute, and courses in leisure learning. The Humble Center at Deerbrook Mall is the college’s satellite campus. Since its inception in 1994, The Humble Center has provided credit and continuing education courses to students residing in the Humble, Atascosita and Beltway areas.

Tomball College
Tomball College is a comprehensive community college conveniently located on SH 249 in Tomball Texas. Campus offerings include academic transfer, occupational programs, workforce training, and community education. The college’s mission is “to provide accessible, quality, lifelong learning opportunities and to prepare learners to meet the challenges in a global and technological society.”

In partnership with students, educational institutions, businesses and other community groups, the college creates a climate conducive to personal educational, civic, and cultural enrichment and renewal. Faculty members are the finest available and bring years of educational and professional experience to the classroom. The college boasts a low student-to-teacher ratio with an average of 15-20 students per class.

In addition to its highly regarded academic transfer program, Tomball College offers a number of occupational programs. The new engineering technology program allows students to earn an associate’s degree and be prepared for employment in entry-level careers as computer electronics technicians, Cisco router technicians or network/telecommunications technicians. Programs of note include the veterinary technology program, which is one of only three such programs in the state. The human services department offers classes designed to train those who wish to become substance abuse or family counselors. The college also offers an occupational therapy assistant program and a nursing program designed to educate and train registered nurses ending in licensure as a registered nurse. These lead to associate of applied science degrees. Other programs of note include accounting, agriculture, computer information technology, and management/marketing. A variety of distance-learning courses are also available.

The Willow Chase Center is Tomball College’s outreach location in the Cy-Fair/Willowbrook area. The Willow Chase Center is conveniently located north of Willowbrook Mall just off the Tomball Parkway (Highway 249) at Grant Road. The Center hosts a wide range of transfer, college preparation, and technology classes as well as business and industry training.

Montgomery College

NHMCCD’s newest campus, Montgomery College, is woven into 100 acres of virgin pine forest. It offers a state-of-the-art Extended Learning Center, which helps promote advanced, computerized learning for its growing student population. Programs of note include biotechnology, physical therapist assistant, nursing, human services, and business. Montgomery College takes advantage of its close proximity to The Woodlands’ Research Forest, providing a critical link between numerous high-tech companies and the knowledge-based communities of Montgomery and North Harris Counties. The college’s proximity to the newly built University Center makes it an ideal place to begin work towards a bachelor’s or even, a master’s degree. A 21,000-square-foot, 16-classroom store-front facility known as the Center for Business & Technology Training, located in Conroe, offers a wide array of business, computer, and manufacturing-oriented classes. The center is located in the Pine Hollow Shopping Center at I-45 North and North Loop 336.

The University Center

The University Center is a multi-university center which allows citizens to work toward degrees from any of six partner universities—Prairie View A&M University, Sam Houston State University, Texas A&M University, Texas Southern University, University of Houston and University of Houston-Downtown.

Near the Montgomery College campus, The University Center is available and convenient district wide. Through technological advances in telecommunications, classes are offered throughout the district, providing a “seamless” educational transition from community college student to university student to a bachelor’s degree graduate and eventually to a master’s degree graduate. In addition to delivering bachelor’s and master’s degrees through The University Center, the college district has a sustained commitment to provide a trained workforce in the community. In order to do this, NHMCCD is keeping up with expanding technology and job and career-training trends by creating new technical programs and constructing specialized facilities.

Distance Learning

Distance learning allows individual students to obtain college credit by participating in a variety of non-classroom oriented courses. Courses offered physically at a distance from the main colleges and centers of the district are part of the distance-learning program. The content and transferability of these courses are the same as the classroom-based courses. In a manner similar to classroom courses, instruction in these courses will require students to read texts and to take exams; many courses require written papers. All such courses are offered under the guidance of a qualified instructor and many will require students to attend an orientation session at the beginning of the course. These courses are offered in a variety of formats: print-based courses, videocassette and telecourses, modem/Internet courses and interactive video courses. Colleges provide all courses required to obtain the AA degree in a distance-learning format. Students taking these courses have the same rights and responsibilities as they do in taking classroom-based courses.

Community Education

The North Harris Montgomery Community College District encourages individuals to engage in lifelong learning through participation in a variety of courses, programs, seminars, workshops, forums and activities. Community Education focuses on preparing community members for jobs as well as enabling them to perform their jobs better, to become more informed citizens, and to use their leisure time more effectively. Workforce Development Certificates are awarded for certain continuing education programs and courses.

The Continuing Education Unit (CEU):

NHMCCD awards Continuing Education Units (CEUs) for CEU credit activities. The Community Education programs are responsible for assuring that all courses for which CEUs are offered meet criteria established by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. The CEU is an internationally recognized unit of measurement for successful participation in a continuing education program. Successful completers of NHMCCD’s CEU programs have a permanent transcript available on request. One CEU is defined as 10 contact hours of participation in an organized continuing education experience under responsible sponsorship, capable direction and qualified instruction. One unit is awarded for each 10 clock hours of successful instruction participation with decimal units given for fewer than 10 hours.

Economic And Workforce Development

Each college within the North Harris Montgomery Community College District offers specialized and customized training for businesses and industries. A wide variety of employee training is available ranging from basic skills to computer software and technology to leadership and organizational development. Business training representatives at each college work with businesses to develop programs and courses to help employees improve productivity and service. Flexibility in class scheduling allows courses to be offered at the business site, on campus, or at any other location suitable to meet client needs. Classes are led by experienced instructors who generate learning environments in which employees can succeed. North Harris Montgomery Community College District is also actively involved in many community-based partnerships. These partnerships encompass three main areas of business, community and economic development.

Economic and Workforce Development activities serve as a partner to businesses in developing their labor force through Customized Contract Training; skills assessments; the Consortium for Supplier Training and Supplier Registry, which provides world class total quality management training; and the Small Business Development Center which provides free counseling and affordable training for both start-up and existing small businesses.

In addition, the NHMCCD’s Center for Business and Economic Development coordinates Economic Development activities for the North Houston Economic Development Alliance by providing a central contact point for the 11 area chambers of commerce and the North Houston Association. Other economic development partners are the Greater Houston Partnership and the Texas Department of Economic Development.
Overview of Compliance Audit

In August, 1998 the NHMCCD Executive Council named Glenda Smith, North Harris College Psychology Professor, to chair the compliance audit steering committee for the SACS Alternate Model Self Study. Olin Joynton, North Harris College Philosophy Professor, was named to chair the Strategic Topic steering committee. Dr. Joynton and Dr. Smith agreed to work closely together and became active members of both steering committees. Compliance audit steering committee members were selected for their expertise in areas related to the criteria and also to widely represent the four colleges and the diverse levels of responsibility and work assignments in the district. The steering committee met regularly to select subcommittees and make consensus judgments regarding compliance with the criteria. Dr. Linda Stegall, then Vice Chancellor for Education and Student Development, served on both steering committees, acting as advisor to the chairs and liaison to the Executive Council for the entire self-study. Dr. Stegall, currently President of Kingwood College, has served on and chaired many visiting teams for the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges.

While we are very proud of the enormous effort of all the subcommittees in conducting the compliance audit, there are some accomplishments that bear special mention. The compliance audit has led to the formation of new policies, the development of improved plans, and enhanced communication and cooperation throughout the college district. Descriptions of some of the accomplishments and subcommittee processes are detailed below.

Section 2 and Section 3.1-3.3 Chaired by Dr. Rose Austin

As the majority of the membership had not served on a prior Self Study Committee or a SACS Visiting Team, this sub-committee welcomed the opportunity to review the institution’s mission and its institutional effectiveness process and plan. The subcommittee viewed the Self Study process as an opportunity to assess employees’ level of participation in the planning process and the level of evaluation and improvement. Hence, the membership felt that this experience would serve as an excellent form of professional development.

The subcommittee began the Self Study process by reviewing all must statements and holding conferences with personnel responsible for compliance with each statement.

Documenting compliance of Section 2 (Institutional Purpose) presented little challenge as the institution periodically reviews its mission and purpose and includes input from its Board, community, employees, and students. All employees interviewed demonstrated knowledge of the institution’s mission and most had participated first-hand in its review.

In the initial investigation of compliance with Section 3.1-3.3 (Institutional Effectiveness), the subcommittee discovered that most departments participated in the planning process; however, many had not aligned departmental goals with those of the institution or had not documented evaluation and improvement. These findings resulted in “closing the loop” training sessions and a suggested planning template for use by unit supervisors. Most supervisors used the suggested guide or variation of the guide to document effectiveness.

As the institution has chosen a biennial planning cycle beginning in odd years, the subcommittee audited and collected documents supporting the 1997-99 and the 1999-2001 cycles. Though the 1999-2001 planning cycle does not end until August of 2001, the subcommittee collected effectiveness documentation representing the period from September 1999-January 2001. The subcommittee concluded that the institution was in compliance with all of the must statements in Section 2 and Section 3.1-3.3.

The subcommittee believes that the Self Study process provided professional development not only to its membership but also to unit supervisors responsible for monitoring on-going assessment, evaluation and continuous improvement.

Sections 4.1, 4.2.2, 4.2.3, 4.2.4 Chaired by Doug Boyd
The subcommittee began the Self Study process by spending several meetings analyzing the "must" statements and discussing documentation. Subcommittee members then interviewed associate deans--particularly about evaluations and syllabi--to establish whether NHMCCD was in compliance; the chair interviewed other employees as well. Following the interviews, in summer 1999 the chair prepared a preliminary report that indicated that although NHMCCD was in compliance with most of the "must" statements, some deficiencies in policy and procedure existed. The subcommittee spent the subsequent semesters touching base with associate deans and monitoring policy changes to determine that NHMCCD made the necessary changes. The subcommittee also began to collect documentation or to identify where documentation resided. In fall 2000, the subcommittee concluded that NHMCCD was in compliance with all of the "must" statements in its sections, and the chair revised the report.

Section 4.4 Chaired by Elizabeth Lunden
The subcommittee consisted of the District Director of Public Relations and Information, a journalism professor and a student services advisor (who has since left her position). The committee visited each college and reviewed individual college publications. It was determined that publications include electronic as well as printed documents including the web sites. The need for consistent style manuals and compliance guidelines across the District was recognized. The effort resulted in more consistent and accurate publications across the district stemming from the updating and development of guidelines at the District level, which were adapted at each college. Examples of the guidelines include the College District Style Guide; College District Web Publishing Guidelines; and the College District Equal Opportunity and Diversity Plan.

Section 4.5 Chaired by Elizabeth Lunden
Because criterion 4.5 page 38, line 1 states that the Distance Learning program must comply with all applicable Criteria, the audit of the program encompassed all of the Criteria and the Audit Steering Committee effectively became the audit subcommittee for Distance Learning. Each steering committee member identified criteria within their assigned sections that could be interpreted to apply to the Distance Learning program.
These Criteria were compiled into a document that was discussed in meetings with the Campus Coordinators for Distance Learning, The District Director for Distance Learning and the District Distance Learning Council. Appropriate documentation or lack thereof was noted. Because our Distance Learning program is in the evolutionary process of becoming a cohesive and comprehensive District effort, in many cases it was necessary to wait for the development of specific Distance Learning services, as well as appropriate documentation. A long term benefit of the audit process is evident in the planning processes that now exist; the focus on evaluation of the program at all levels; the simultaneous implementation of student services, course development, and faculty training. Also evident are the broad and varied efforts in communications about the Distance Learning program to both staff and students. The student is the immediate benefactor from the accelerated development of the comprehensive Distance Learning program.

Section 4.6 Chaired by Elizabeth Lunden
The subcommittee consisted of a college Dean of Community Education; a Corporation and CE Director; and a Director of Academic Support Center, formerly Director of CE (who has since retired). After reviewing the requirements of the Criteria, the committee visited each college and met with representatives of the Community Education and the Corporate Training departments. While it soon became apparent that compliance was widespread across the district, the effort resulted in an improvement in the overall maintenance and organization of the records and documents within each department, and reinforced the importance of developing and retaining accurate records and continuous evaluation of the programs. The effort also revealed some trends in the community education and corporate training fields which tend to diminish the distinction between credit and non-credit offerings, and increased the awareness of the need for continued vigilance directed toward maintaining academic standards.

Section 4.8 Chaired by Patricia Plunk
The Faculty Audit Subcommittee has had a very challenging assignment. Keeping track of faculty documentation and credentials is a formidable task in stable situations. Growth and change have exacerbated the problem at NHMCCD over the past ten years. There have been numerous changes in college leaderships including Presidents, Vice-presidents, and Associate Deans as well as four changes in leadership in the Human Resources department. Faculty credentials and documentation issues have not always received the required priority and attention. Initial investigation by the Faculty Audit Subcommittee revealed problems that needed to be addressed if the District is to meet SACS criteria requirements. The subcommittee has worked with both instructional administrators and the Human Resources department seeking resolution to the identified issues. The Faculty Audit Subcommittee sought to accomplish its goals while maintaining a problem-solving, non-adversarial relationship with all parties involved. The subcommittee’s accomplishments include:

- Increased lines of communication between Human Resources and instructional administrators.
- Worked with Human Resources and Information Technology to automate faculty personnel file audit information. An electronic report from the Colleague database is now available to all instructional administrators and can be accessed at any time to check credential and documentation information on any faculty member.

- Initiated and participated in meetings between HR representatives and college instructional administrators.
- Worked alongside HR staff in performing faculty file audits.
- Coordinated with Human Resources and Information Technology to obtain the SACS Faculty Roster Report in an electronic format.
- Periodically reported faculty file deficiencies to college instructional administrators.
- Initiated revision and updating of English Proficiency Form.
- Provided periodic reports of subcommittee’s activities and findings to the Steering Committee, college instructional administrators, and Human Resources.
- Encouraged greater communication between colleges on faculty qualification issues when faculty member teaches at more than one location.
- Served as a resource for inquiries on faculty credentials and documentation issues.

Section 4.9 Chaired by Elizabeth Lunden
The subcommittee consisted of an Associate Dean for Program Development; a Vice President for Administrative Services; and a Center for Business and Economic Development Program Coordinator. The first business of the audit was to identify specific consortia and contractual agreements for the purpose of offering credit courses and programs. Several were identified and examined by the subcommittee and were generally found to be in compliance with the criteria. However one lasting result of this effort will be the implementation of a systematic process for the regular evaluation of all such consortia and contracts, both current as well as future. It was felt that while these agreements were being reviewed on an informal basis, the district will benefit from a routine documented review of each agreement from the District perspective. Another side benefit of this examination will be the establishment of consistent procedures across the District for participating in consortia such as the Virtual College of Texas.

Section 5.1 Chaired by Dr. Janice Peyton
The process used for examining Section 5.1 was designed to corroborate each must statement and identify areas of strength and weaknesses. In order to verify compliance each statement was considered both independently and in relation to the district’s report as a whole. The following steps were taken to ensure that the impact of the findings of the Section 5.1 Subcommittee would strengthen the NHMCCD Library Program from the institutional perspective:

- The 5.1 Subcommittee met to review the audit process as it related to the library and to identify possible measures of effectiveness
- The 5.1 Subcommittee discussed each must statement as it related to the member’s respective college
- Each committee member assumed responsibility for identifying local strengths and weaknesses and shared those weaknesses with peers.
- Both weaknesses and strengths were discussed and these characteristics were cross-referenced to ensure that a district perspective was maintained throughout the review process. The NHMCCD library is among the district’s strongest support services areas. The program is highly synchronized and yet allows ample room for each college library to support its campus culture.

In sharing information, the Section 5.1 Subcommittee discovered that each college might work more closely in developing some assessment measures. The 5.1 Subcommittee celebrated the strengths of peer libraries and combined efforts to minimize duplicated efforts. The long-lasting benefit is that by identifying strengths among the libraries, each college might increase dialogue and reduce the gap in “fact-finding” and seeking solutions to challenges that another college may have resolved.

Section 5.2 Chaired by Dr. Janice Peyton
A template was developed and sent electronically to Section 5.2 Subcommittee. The purposes of the template were to outline the areas of information needed and assess the effectiveness of NHMCCD’s instructional support facilities, learning centers and specialized services. Key personnel at each college had an opportunity to distribute the instrument and collect information before the subcommittee met. Since there were few must statements in section 5.2, this technique was an effective means of collecting feedback across the colleges. When the subcommittee met, each institution had an opportunity to share information about the audit. Subcommittee members worked independently and collectively to organize descriptive information. During the final meeting of the subcommittee each member expressed a comfortable level of satisfaction with the common threads of the findings, as well as with the unique characteristics maintained by each college’s instructional support unit.

The primary advantage of the system-wide assessment is that the staff of each college instructional support unit celebrated the strengths afforded by common standards, while minimizing random efforts.

Section 5.3 Chaired by Dr. Janice Peyton
A template was developed and sent electronically to the technology deans at each college. The information gleaned during this process varied. During the early stages of the audit there seemed to be little documentation of the policies and procedures for assessing the effectiveness of information technology resources and systems. While the technology staffs recognized that the technology was current and were able to respond to user needs almost spontaneously, the IT areas across the district seemed to lack codified procedures for assessing effectiveness of day to day operations and for producing strategic plans. In due time, however, it was discovered that most of the assessment tools were either in place and not recognized as tools or were easily created.

One contributing factor seemed to be the fluctuation in staff. More codification and local documentation appears to have minimized the gaps that seemed apparent during early stages of the audit. One positive consequence of the level of organization and documentation resulting from the audit is better lines of communication between the technology departments and the users.
Section 5.4 Chaired by Mary Mendoza
Through efforts of the compliance audit subcommittee, all student development areas are now regularly setting goals, collecting documentation to evaluate the goals set and revising goals as needed. As the compliance audit revealed an inconsistent pattern of evaluations following student development programs and services, functional areas adjusted their practices. Programs and services are now regularly evaluated. Evaluations are compiled, discussed in staff meetings and the results impact continued programs and services as well as influence goals set in the upcoming cycle. An awareness of access to programs and services by distance learning students has increased. Chief student development officers know their deficits in this area and are working to improve them. Student development personnel have produced official personnel documents where needed and there is greater awareness among managers to obtain documentation as part of the hiring process.

Section 6 Co-chaired by John Fishero and Steve Megregian
Membership of the Section 6 Subcommittee was selected to achieve a representative group of clerical staff, faculty and administrators, with members from each NHMCCD College and District Office, including those most knowledgeable in each area to be examined. The subcommittee was divided into four teams, each with its own team leader, to examine specifically assigned Section 6 criteria. The approach was to take a tough look at NHMCCD to identify shortcomings requiring correction as well as opportunities for improvement.

The result of months of meetings, interviews, surveys, examination of documents and records, and review of policies and procedures by Section 6 Subcommittee members has been a positive experience beneficial to NHMCCD. The committee recognizes overall gains in understanding and coordination of the many facets of NHMCCD administrative processes, within the complexities of a multi-college district. Furthermore, the Administrative Processes SACS audit produced changes in Board policy which brought purchasing policies into alignment with practices. In addition, there has been added definition to the District’s policy on grants. The committee’s audit was instrumental in the implementation of improved fixed asset accounting procedures and a comprehensive inventory and appraisal of NHMCCD’s fixed assets. Finally, the audit resulted in improved safety plans and enhanced safety awareness throughout the District; and provided other, smaller improvements in communications and coordination among the NHMCCD colleges.

Specific Criterion
An institution IS REQUIRED to conduct a self-study at the interval specified by the Commission and, at the conclusion of the self-study, accept an honest and forthright peer assessment of institutional strengths and weaknesses.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
NHMCCD has conducted self-studies at the required intervals for the past 25 years. Previous institutional self-studies were conducted in 1972-73, 1978-79, and 1988-89. North Harris College was first accredited in December of 1973 and then was reaccredited five years later in 1978. The last accreditation visit occurred in 1989, resulting in a renewal of accreditation for another ten-year period. The district submitted a substantive change report as a result of the opening of Montgomery College in 1995. NHMCCD has responded appropriately to the recommendations and suggestions of each Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Visiting Committee as evidenced by the North Harris Montgomery Community College District Self-Study Reports and the District Responses to Visiting Team Reports. The district has consistently demonstrated acceptance of peer assessment and has made changes appropriate to the recommendations received.

Specific Criterion
The Commission REQUIRES that the self-study assess every aspect of the institution; involve personnel from all segments of the institution, including faculty, staff, students, administration and governing boards; and provide a comprehensive analysis of the institution, identifying strengths and weaknesses.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
NHMCCD has spent the past two years conducting an alternate self-study. For the purpose of compliance and criteria review, every aspect of the District’s operations has been assessed, as evidenced by this report. Each department has reviewed and responded to criteria pertinent to its own particular area. The Compliance Steering Committee, comprised of faculty, staff, and administrators, examined the responses, asked for clarification where needed, and sent the final report to the Executive Council (consisting of the Chancellor, Vice Chancellors, and College Presidents) who then acted upon the findings. The Executive Council issued final approval of the responses. Constituency of the four colleges, centers, and district office have been kept informed through newsletters, small group presentations, presentations at annual convocations, copies of reports and self-study manuals placed in the learning resource centers of each campus, and the district SACS website.

After the District’s Strategic Topic Proposal to the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools was accepted during the fall of 1998, the Strategic Topic Steering Committee took responsibility for developing twelve goals, and budgeting for and overseeing the various projects. The steering committee met regularly to develop and implement “Systems for Enhancing Under-prepared Student Success.”

The NHMCCD libraries provide bibliographic access to all classified library and learning resource materials through the Dynix online public access catalog (OPAC). Each college has open stacks and patrons have physical access to resources on site. Library users have bibliographic access to all resources listed. Closed reserves, periodicals, various audio-visuals, microformats and electronic resources are accessible to library users. These resources and services are evaluated regularly and systematically to ensure that they adequately meet the needs of library users and support the programs and purpose of the institution.

As the district expands, course offerings are provided at centers away from the parent colleges. Library resources are available to all faculty members and enrolled students at the centers. Provisions are available for students to access materials from the campuses.
Automated Library Services, an NHMCCD technical services department, located at the district office, ensures that appropriate access and migration paths are maintained throughout the library program. One of the most recent upgrades, WebPAC, allows library users to access the online public access library catalog from outside the library. This feature has helped to ensure that faculty and enrolled students have access to library and learning resources wherever the programs or courses are located and however they are delivered.

Each institution MUST assess and justify the appropriateness of experiences offered in lieu of a high school diploma.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Students must make arrangements to take an assessment test, if needed, by contacting the counseling or advising office at any college. Test results are used for placement in certain courses and for advising purposes. TASP or TASP alternative test scores are used to predict student ability to make satisfactory progress at the institution.

Experiences presented in lieu of a high school diploma are also assessed according to criteria described in the District Catalog (pp. 41-42) under the heading: Award of Credit for Non-Traditional Experiences.

Current Status and Analysis
NHMCCD is an open-door admission institution. This open-door policy is consistent with the district mission. Students may be admitted by high school transcripts, GED, transfer from another college, or by international student criteria. Provisions are also made for exceptional criteria and individual approval. Differences in student capabilities are addressed through developmental studies programs as well as Honors programs.

Current Status and Analysis
Admission procedures for transfer students are referenced under the procedures for admission into a college credit program. Official transcripts from all previous institutions attended should be transmitted before admission to college but must be submitted before subsequent registration will be permitted in any degree or certificate program.

Specific Criterion
The policy MUST include the following: the requirement for official transcripts of credits earned from all institutions of higher education previously attended; qualitative and quantitative criteria determining the acceptability of transfer work; criteria regarding the award of advanced standing, whether by credit earned at another institution, by advanced placement examinations, or through experiential learning; and conditions governing admission in good standing, admission on probation, and provisional admission.

Current Status and Analysis
Admission procedures for transfer students are referenced under the procedures for admission into a college credit program. Official transcripts from all previous institutions attended should be transmitted before admission to college but must be submitted before subsequent registration will be permitted in any degree or certificate program.

Qualitative and quantitative criteria determining the acceptability of transfer work is referenced under “Transfer to other Institutions” #2 a-g on p. 34 of the 2000-2001 NHMCCD Catalog.

The statements on Advanced Standing, Credit By External Examination, and Credit By Internal Challenge Exams on pages 41-42 of the 2000-2001 NHMCCD Catalog outline procedures for award of credit through non-traditional means.
Students who do not maintain the minimum GPA and course completion standards outlined above will be placed on academic warning, academic probation, or academic suspension. These three academic status levels alert faculty and staff to problems in the students’ academic performance, so that strategies for intervention and assistance can be employed.

Institutions which award credit based on advanced placement or other examinations; training provided by non-collegiate institutions, such as armed forces and service schools; professional certification; or experiential learning MUST meet the following conditions governing the award of such credit;

1. The amount of credit awarded is clearly stated and is in accord with commonly accepted good practice in higher education.
2. Credit is awarded only in areas offered within the current curriculum of the institution, and is appropriately related to the student’s educational programs.
3. Decisions regarding the awarding of credit and the determination of such credit are made by qualified faculty members at the institution, or according to procedures and standards approved by qualified faculty.

Current Status and Analysis
Currently, the NHMCCD has procedures in place to assess student-mastered competencies such as challenge exams (both external and internal), portfolios, military transcripts, and external evaluations. The Prior Learning Assessment provides a description of each and offers a process to use when evaluating the student’s competencies.

Core competency Challenge Exams are developed and approved by NHMCCD Curriculum teams.

Current Status and Analysis
NHMCCD is part of a group of Texas colleges and universities that teach courses that are similar in nature designated by common numbers. The purpose of assigning a common number is to facilitate the transferability of these courses among participating institutions.

The Texas Common Course Numbering System is designed to help identify the courses needed when planning to transfer to another member institution after completion of course work at NHMCCD.

It is the responsibility of each student to check with the institution to which he or she expects to transfer as soon as this choice is made. It is also the student’s responsibility to be sure that courses are selected that will be acceptable for the chosen field of study at the four-year institution. A careful study of the current catalog from the chosen college or university will answer most questions.

In addition, transfer guides are available on the District website and through the student services offices on each campus.

Specific Criterion
There MUST be clearly defined policies regarding the academic dismissal, suspension and readmission of students.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
A student currently on academic probation will be suspended if he or she fails to achieve a semester credit GPA of 2.0 or higher in the semester immediately following the probationary semester. Students who are on suspension must appeal before being allowed to register for classes at NHMCCD. A student who re-enters the college after having been suspended will be placed on academic probation. Academic suspension will be noted on the student’s official transcript.

Specific Criterion
In each degree program, there MUST be an appropriate sequence of courses leading to the degree.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
For AA and AS degrees, NHMCCD students must complete core requirements, and the NHMCCD Catalog specifies prerequisites for courses in which a sequence is necessary. The NHMCCD Catalog also describes the sequence of courses for AAS degrees and certificates for advising purposes, but “(s)tudents are responsible for taking courses in the proper sequence and at the proper level as well as determining the applicability of a particular course to their educational objectives.” Counselors, advisors, and faculty members advise students about the appropriate sequence of courses to take, and faculty members regularly review the appropriateness of the sequence of courses.

Current Status and Analysis
The NHMCCD Catalog specifies that NHMCCD's graduates of degree programs are competent in reading, writing, oral communication, fundamental mathematical skills and the basic use of computers. The core curriculum covers each of these areas. In degree programs that do not require a specific course in each of those areas, the skills are embedded into the competencies of the required courses in the program. NHMCCD also offers a "graduation guarantee" that students who complete the requirements for the associate of arts degree or the associate of science degree will be able to perform at the senior college or university at a level equivalent to their transfer students or to the college's native students. NHMCCD "also guarantees that graduates with the associate of applied science degree or a certificate will have acquired the job skills for entry level employment in the field of their award." If students do not have the required skills, NHMCCD will provide additional academic coursework and technical training tuition-free.

Current Status and Analysis
To ensure that such courses are at the collegiate level, NHMCCD takes a number of steps. One, the high school course must contain the NHMCCD college level course topics, learning outcomes, and competencies. Two, the instructors must have the necessary academic credentials. Three, to enroll in a concurrent credit course, students must pass all sections of the exit-level TAAS Test, and in English (reading and writing) and mathematics courses, students must achieve specified placement scores. Finally, concurrent credit instructors are evaluated during their first semester and periodically thereafter.

Current Status and Analysis
Faculty members who wish to formally experiment with methods to improve instruction are supported by NHMCCD's mini-grant fund, in which an evaluation occurs in a final report. More informal means of experimentation with methods of instruction are supported by release time, stipends, training, expenditures on technology, professional memberships, and a budget that support professional development opportunities such as training and conferences. Specific Criterion
Courses offered in non-traditional formats, e.g., concentrated or abbreviated time periods, MUST be designed to ensure an opportunity for preparation, reflection and analysis concerning the subject matter.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
NHMCCD offers courses in a variety of concentrated or abbreviated time periods such as three weeks, five weeks, six weeks, eight weeks, nine weeks, and ten weeks. To ensure that students have opportunity for preparation, reflection and analysis concerning the subject matter, NHMCCD policy states, "The number of weeks for which the course is offered may not be less than the credit hour value of the course," and "[a] course may not be scheduled to meet more than eight hours per day." Also, faculty members consider students' needs when designing their syllabi.

Specific Criterion
In certain professional, vocational and technical programs (for example, allied health programs), clinical and other affiliations with outside agencies may be necessary. In all such cases, learning experiences for which credit is awarded MUST be under the ultimate control and supervision of the educational institution.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
In affiliation with outside agencies, NHMCCD maintains control and supervision over the learning experience through Clinical Affiliation Agreements.

Specific Criterion
The institution MUST demonstrate that an effective relationship exists between curricular content and current practices in the field of specialization.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
NHMCCD programs maintain an effective relationship between curricular content and current practices in the field of specialization in a number of ways. First, advisory committees consisting of faculty members and practitioners meet annually to discuss the curriculum. Also, NHMCCD supports the professional development of faculty members so that they can remain current in their fields. Furthermore, many programs have external accrediting and licensing agencies that set standards for maintaining an up-to-date curriculum.

Documentation

Specific Criterion
An institution MUST demonstrate that program length, clock hours or credit hours, and tuition and fee charges are appropriate for the degrees and credentials it offers.
Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
The Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board (THECB) sets minimum tuition rates and NHMCCD tuition and fees are set by the NHMCCD Board of Trustees.

AA and AS degrees require a total of 61 credit hours. AAS degrees require 60-72 credit hours. A Level One certificate requires 15-42 credit hours. A Level Two certificate requires 43-59 credit hours. An Enhanced Skills certificate requires 6-15 credit hours.

NHMCCD uses the guidelines of the Texas Workforce Education Course Manual (WECM) Advisory Committee, which, in conjunction with the Guidelines for Instructional Programs in Workforce Education (GIPWE) and advice from a special committee of the Texas Association of College Technical Educators (TACTE), developed ranges for contact and credit hours and suitable combinations of lecture and lab hours to guide the creation of WECM courses by instructional specialists.

On-campus courses must meet for a certain number of hours set by the Texas legislature. (For example, a three-hour course must meet for a minimum of 48 fifty-minute sessions.) Each year, a calendar committee sets schedules to ensure that at least the minimum number of contact hours is met.

Specific Criterion
An institution MUST conduct a systematic, effective program of undergraduate academic advising.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Each college has developed a system of advising which typically consists of a centralized advising/counseling center. During peak registration times professional staff are joined by part-time temporary advisors and faculty who assist with the advising process.

Documentation

Specific Criterion
An institution MUST ensure that the number of advisees assigned to faculty or professional staff is reasonable.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Academic advising is available primarily at a centralized advising/counseling center at each campus. A group of student development staff members are assigned to deal with all advisees. Students are not formally assigned to a specific advisor. During peak registration times, professional staff members, faculty, and part-time temporary advisors assist with the registration process.

Specific Criterion
An effective orientation program MUST be made available to all full- and part-time undergraduate students.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Orientation programs include on-site presentations and electronic orientations typically contained on a CD-ROM. Electronic orientations typically are followed by a quiz of some type to ensure learning outcomes are achieved. New students usually attend an orientation as part of the testing process.

College adjustment classes are also offered in the academic schedule, but do not carry college credit.

Grant programs typically have a specialized orientation program for their students. In some cases this supplements new student orientations offered by the colleges.

Specific Criterion
Orientation and advisement programs MUST be evaluated regularly and used to enhance assistance to students.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Advising and orientation programs and services are evaluated at all locations. The “So How are We Doing” type comment card, which evaluates services, is used at all campus locations. Various evaluation forms are used to evaluate orientation programs.

Additionally, Gulf Coast Consortium surveys are distributed in collaboration with the colleges. These surveys measure students’ perceptions of many student development services, including orientation and advising.

Grant programs typically have a specialized orientation program for their students. Orientation program evaluations have been included in the overall orientation of the grant program upon student exit and following the seminars.

Specific Criterion
The content and design of publications produced and distributed by an institution MUST be accurate and consistent in describing the institution and rigorously adhere to principles of good educational practice.

Acceptable, No Recommendation
Current Status and Analysis
The District Style Guide and the District Web Publishing Guidelines have been newly updated and lay the groundwork for publications that are accurate and consistent in describing the college and adhere to principles of good educational practice. Local campus guidelines also exist and are based on the District Guidelines. Web pages are being updated at the district office as well as each site. Questions concerning the EEOC statement have been addressed in the College District Equal Opportunity and Diversity Plan, and have been distributed accordingly.

Specific Criterion

Documentation

Specific Criterion
An institution planning to initiate, through continuing education or outreach programs, a degree program MUST inform the Executive Director of the Commission on Colleges in advance of program implementation.

Current Status and Analysis
Does Not Apply to NHMCCD.

Specific Criterion
An institution MUST not award academic credit for work taken on a non-credit basis without appropriate documentation that the non-credit coursework is equivalent to a designated credit experience.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
All four colleges comply with this Criterion. Appropriate documentation shows that work taken through continuing education for which academic credit is awarded is equivalent to a designated credit experience.
Specific Criterion
In such cases, the institution MUST document that the credit awarded for non-credit coursework represents collegiate coursework relevant to the degree, with course content and level of instruction, resulting in student competencies equivalent to those of students in the institution’s own degree programs; and coursework taught by faculty members qualified to teach at the appropriate degree level.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
All four colleges demonstrate compliance through documented evidence that credit awarded for continuing education coursework is relevant to the degree with the level of instruction equivalent to credit student competencies and the qualifications of faculty at the appropriate degree level.

Documentation

Specific Criterion

Current Status and Analysis

Montgomery College and North Harris College meet this Criterion. Does not apply at Kingwood College and Tomball College.
Specific Criterion
The institution MUST have adequate student records for both credit and non-credit courses.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Student records are kept in Colleague and backed up. Student forms are kept on campus for two semesters then sent to the District Office for storage. Before July 1996, most documents retained under the law were stored at a location within the District Office. Storage space at the District location became severely limited when administrative demands for office space increased, forcing the District to seek an alternative storage solution.

Bids were solicited from numerous climate controlled and bonded storage companies in the vicinity and a vendor was selected. The boxes that were housed at the District location were inventoried and sent off for storage or destruction according to the approved retention schedule.

From this time forward, all documents listed on the NHMCCD Control Schedule (Appendix 8.1 of the Records Retention and Storage Manual created fall 1996) will be appropriately boxed and labeled before being forwarded to the vendor for retention and destruction according to procedures set forth in the manual.

Documentation
District Student Records Office

Specific Criterion
The institution MUST take all steps necessary to ensure the security of its student records, including storage in a secure vault or fireproof cabinet.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
NHMCCD has paper record storage facilities that are fire resistant. Microfiche records are stored in fireproof filing cabinets, but not within a vault. Due to the nature of microx (thermal heat imaged microfiche cards) there is some doubt that they would survive a fire.

The most essential element of our student records (the transcript) is maintained as an electronic document with back-up files that are stored off-site in a vaulted fireproof environment as required. NHMCCD is currently beginning the process of imaging all paper and microfiche student records, moving them to a RAID storage system (electronic image storage cabinet), and eventually writing them out to optical disks. Once this process gets under way, we will be able to make copies of the disks and store them off-site as well.

Specific Criterion
The institution MUST have policies concerning what constitutes the permanent record of each student, as well as policies concerning retention and disposal of records.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
For the purpose of this policy (FJ Legal – Student Records), the term “education records” means those records, files, documents and other materials that contain information directly related to a student and are maintained by an education agency or institution or by a person acting for such agency or institution.

Before July 1996, most documents retained under the law were stored at a location within

Recommendation
The Self Study Committee recommends that the institution provide evidence that it has employed faculty members qualified to accomplish its purpose.

Current Status and Analysis
We believe the North Harris Montgomery Community College District (NHMCCD) faculty to be qualified according to SACS guidelines. However, at the time this report is being written, we are aware of a small number of faculty files lacking the documentation to prove the qualification. The Vice President of Educational Resources will either require the faculty member to submit the missing documentation, refrain from assigning the faculty member outside the qualified teaching field, or submit an exception statement to be placed in the faculty member’s personnel file if appropriate. Until evidence demonstrates that all faculty are in compliance, this criterion will remain in recommendation status.

Specific Criterion
It is EXPECTED that an institution will employ faculty members whose highest earned degree presented as the credential qualifying the faculty member to teach at the institution is from a regionally accredited institution.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Associate Deans are responsible for verifying accreditation status of institutions from which faculty hired at NHMCCD colleges hold degrees. The most widely used source document for verifying accreditation status of institutions is the Directory of Higher Education published annually.

Documentation

Specific Criterion
If an institution employs a faculty member whose highest earned degree is from a non-regionally accredited institution within the United States or an institution outside the United States, the institution MUST show evidence that the faculty member has appropriate academic preparation.

Recommendation
The Self Study Committee recommends that the institution show evidence that the faculty member has appropriate academic preparation. Associate Deans and Vice Presidents may ensure that all faculty hires will either have degrees from regionally accredited institutions or provide to NHMCCD an evaluation of foreign transcripts by an approved evaluation provider.

Current Status and Analysis
After a full audit of NHMCCD faculty personnel files, we find no evidence of faculty who claim qualification to teach based on degrees from non-regionally accredited U.S. institutions. NHMCCD does have faculty who hold degrees from institutions outside the US. Faculty members with degrees from institutions outside the US are required to provide a transcript evaluation by an approved evaluation provider. The evaluation must indicate course content and degree equivalency compared to degrees from U.S. colleges and universities.
At the time of the writing of this report, we are awaiting transcript evaluations from one or more faculty. This criterion will remain in recommendation status until the evaluations of all foreign transcripts are received and reviewed.

Specific Criterion
Institutions MUST ensure that each faculty member employed is proficient in oral and written communication in the language in which assigned courses will be taught.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
NHMCCD has a process to document faculty language proficiency in the language in which assigned courses are taught. NHMCCD originally implemented documentation of language proficiency in the early 1990’s in response to a Texas Higher Education Coordination Board requirement. The original format was a self-declaration form signed by the faculty member. The process has been revised and a new format is now in use. The current process utilizes a form that requires a signed statement from the Associate Dean that declares that the Associate Dean has personal evidence of the faculty member’s ability to speak and write in the language in which he or she is teaching. Faculty hiring committees are also asked to assess language proficiency of candidates for faculty positions. English Proficiency Forms are filed in the faculty member’s personnel file.

Current Status and Analysis
Sections 4.8.2.1, p. 41, line 13 through 4.8.2.4, p. 46, line 11 of this report address the academic and professional preparation of faculty. Information relating to faculty academic and professional preparation is covered in detail in those sections.

Specific Criterion
In an associate degree program, full-time and part-time faculty members teaching credit courses in the following areas: humanities/fine arts; social/behavioral sciences; and natural sciences/mathematics MUST have completed at least 18 graduate semester hours in the teaching discipline and hold at least a master’s degree, or hold the minimum of a master’s degree with a major in the teaching discipline.

Recommendation
The Self Study Committee recommends that all full-time and part-time faculty members teaching credit courses in humanities/fine arts; social/behavioral sciences; and natural sciences/mathematics will have completed at least 18 graduate semester hours in the teaching discipline and hold at least a master’s degree, or hold the minimum of a master’s degree with a major in the teaching discipline. Any faculty teaching in Fall 2000 not meeting the requirements will not be assigned classes in subsequent semesters.

Current Status and Analysis
Associate Deans are responsible for verifying degrees of faculty who teach in their division and for counting graduate hours applicable to the teaching assignment. After the graduate hours have been counted, clerks in either the division office or the Human Resources Department input the data into the Colleague system database. The graduate hour count then becomes a part of the data pulled for the Faculty Roster Report. This report is used to verify degrees, major, and graduate hours applicable to the faculty member’s teaching assignment.

We believe NHMCCD full-time and part-time faculty members teaching credit courses in humanities/fine arts, social/behavioral sciences, and natural sciences/mathematics to be qualified according to the requirements of this criterion. However, at the time of the writing of this report, all degrees and graduate semester hours cannot be confirmed because official transcripts have not been received from a small number of faculty. We expect to receive the transcripts and verify degrees and graduate hour counts by March 1, 2001. This report will be updated with an addendum at that time. This criterion will remain in recommendation status until Associate Deans complete graduate hour counts and confirm all NHMCCD faculty teaching courses in humanities/fine arts, social/behavioral sciences, and natural sciences/mathematics have completed 18 graduate semester hours in the teaching discipline and hold at least a master’s degree, or hold the minimum of a master’s degree with a major in the teaching discipline. When all faculty members are in compliance with the graduate hour/degree/major requirement, the criterion status will be changed to acceptable.

Current Status and Analysis
Associate Deans are responsible for verifying academic preparation and appropriate work experience which qualifies a faculty member to teach credit courses in professional, occupational and technical areas. Academic preparation is recorded in the Colleague database and printed on the Faculty Roster Report. NHMCCD has been diligent in requiring all faculty to hold the minimum of an associate’s degree in the occupational and technical teaching areas. However, in Fall 2000 the Faculty Audit Subcommittee was aware of five instructors who did not have an associate’s degree and were working under exception clauses allowed by criterion 4.8.2.1, p. 42, line 16. It IS THE RESPONSIBILITY of the institution to keep on file for all full-time and part-time faculty members documentation of academic preparation, such as official transcripts and, if appropriate for demonstrating competency, official documentation of professional and work experience, technical and performance competency, records of publications, certifications and other qualifications.

Recommendation
The Self Study Committee recommends that the institution take responsibility for keeping on file for all full-time and part-time faculty members documentation of academic preparation, such as official transcripts and, if appropriate for demonstrating competency, official documentation of professional and work experience, technical and performance competency, records of publications, certifications and other qualifications.

Current Status and Analysis
NHMCCD policy and procedures clearly state the credential documentation each faculty member must provide. The faculty member is required to submit the documentation as a provision of employment. NHMCCD has designated the Human Resources Department at the District Office as the official repository of faculty credentials and documentation. The HR department has a defined process for receiving, filing, storing, and retrieving the documentation. The credential documentation process, as written, meets SACS criteria.

Employment and Compensation Guidelines state:
7.5.9: “The Vice President of Educational Resources, with the assistance of the Associate Deans, will be responsible for ensuring that all applicants for faculty positions provide sufficient documentation evidencing their credentials to teach in the District in accordance with all governing laws and regulations. This includes any evidence of certification required by governing boards for certain occupational/technical areas such as nursing.”

College Vice Presidents of Educational Resources have communicated the importance of having all required documentation up-to-date in personnel files to all Associate Deans and faculty. There has been a concerted effort to get all credentials submitted to the Human Resources Department for inclusion in faculty files. However, at the time of the writing of this report, a small number of the faculty files are incomplete due to official transcript deficiencies.

The District’s Human Resources function is centralized and housed at the District Office with no presence on the individual college campuses. Within the past two years, each college has hired a Human Resources Coordinator who serves as a link between the Human Resources Department and the college. Some of the colleges are utilizing the Human Resource Coordinators as an additional resource in faculty documentation collection. The coordinators may now serve as another verification checkpoint to ensure all newly hired full-time faculty members have submitted the required credentials documentation.

In addition, the Human Resources Department, working in conjunction with Information Technology, has built a report that reflects the status of documentation in each faculty member’s file. The report titled Faculty Audit Report is available from a report menu in the Colleague system. Access to the report is available to each Vice President and Associate Dean across the District. The report gives an up-to-date picture of individual faculty files. Implementation of the report has enhanced communication between the Human Resources Department and college instructional offices. Instructional administrators can now pull the report at any time to find out the status of faculty credentials documentation at their college or in a specific division. Initially the report was built to assist tracking of file credentials and documentation for SACS auditing purposes, but the report will become a standard reporting tool for use by Vice Presidents and Associate Deans. Regular review and utilization of the report information will enable instructional administrators to instantly track and know the status of faculty file documentation on an as-needed basis.

This criterion will remain in recommendation status until the Faculty Audit Report and the Faculty Roster Reports confirm that all faculty members have complete documentation of academic preparation and other required credentials on file.

Current Status and Analysis
College Vice Presidents of Educational Resources and Associate Deans are responsible for verifying faculty competence in the fields in which they teach. These instructional administrators collect the appropriate documentation of work experience, certifications or other qualifications from the faculty member and forward the documents to the Human Resources Department. Work experience is documented on applications and/or resumes on file in the individual faculty member’s personnel file. Specific Criterion
The number of full-time faculty members MUST be adequate to provide effective teaching, advising and scholarly or creative activity, and be appropriate to participate in curriculum development, policy making, institutional planning and governance.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Each NHMCCD department is responsible for maintaining an effective balance between full and part-time faculty. Full-time faculty is required to spend 35 hours on campus each week. A typical teaching load is 15-20 hours per week. The remaining hours are spent in class preparation, advising students, participating in organizational committee work, or professional development activities.

Full-time faculty is an integral part of the NHMCCD curriculum development process. Full-time faculty members serve on committees addressing policy review and revision, institutional planning, and governance. In fall 2000 NHMCCD employed 395 full-time faculty members who taught a total of 1,646 class sections. All full-time faculty members teach a full load of classes, and the majority periodically serve on college committees or councils addressing curriculum, policy, planning, and governance issues.
NHMCCD believes the number of full-time faculty to be adequate at this time. Full-time faculty staffing levels are reviewed annually in conjunction with the budget preparation process. NHMCCD remains diligent to ensure adequate full-time faculty staffing.

Specific Criterion
The employment of part-time faculty members can provide expertise to enhance the educational effectiveness of an institution but the number of part-time faculty members MUST be properly limited.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
NHMCCD utilizes a large number of part-time faculty members. During Fall 2000 full-time faculty taught approximately 50% of all class sections. Part-time faculty taught the remaining 50%. These figures are for the entire NHMCCD district. Ratios vary for individual colleges, and ratios are not stable from one teaching department to another.

Part-time faculty ratios are highest in vocational technical areas, particularly in rapidly changing technology fields such as Computer Information Systems. Utilizing adjunct faculty who are full-time employees of industry leaders in the Houston area provides NHMCCD students access to critical information and skills that are in demand in today’s job market.

Each College Vice President for Educational Resources and the Associate Deans who head up instructional divisions are responsible for reviewing full-time and part-time faculty ratios each semester. The goal is to maintain a ratio that provides NHMCCD students with adequate access to sections taught by full-time faculty. NHMCCD offers courses seven days a week for as many as 15 hours per day. As course offering schedules expand, a larger number of part-time faculty is being utilized to meet student demands for expanded hours of operation. The cost of staffing all hours with full-time faculty would be prohibitive. The employment of fully qualified part-time faculty provides our students access to courses in an extended format and keeps faculty salary expenses manageable.

Current Status and Analysis
Orientation sessions for adjunct faculty are the responsibility of the Vice President for Educational Resources at each college. Orientation sessions for part-time faculty are held at the beginning of each Fall and Spring semester. Supervision and evaluation of part-time faculty is the responsibility of the Associate Dean who heads up the division in which the part-time faculty member teaches. Some Associate Deans choose to utilize Program Coordinators to supervise and evaluate the part-time faculty. Part-time faculty evaluation policies and guidelines are in transition. New guidelines for part-time faculty evaluation are published in the Proposal and Model for Assessment and Feedback on Faculty Performance dated August 14, 2000. The new guidelines will become effective when the new Model for Assessment and Feedback on Faculty Performance is approved.

NHMCCD colleges publish and distribute to part-time faculty handbooks and handouts that address part-time faculty orientation, supervision, and evaluation policies and procedures. Materials are being collected to compile a district-wide adjunct faculty handbook. Expected publication is Spring 2001.

Current Status and Analysis
NHMCCD students have ready access to part-time faculty. Some part-time faculty set up times for student visits either before or after class. Many divisions have adjunct office space available in which the part-time instructors may meet with students. Part-time faculty who cannot arrange times for student visits must either make themselves available to students by e-mail or telephone. The college district makes email available to all faculty and students to enhance communication capabilities. Part-time faculty specifies on course syllabi the methods of access students may use to contact them.
Specific Criterion
Salary increases MUST be based on clearly stated criteria.

Current Status and Analysis
NHMCCD has followed the practice of annual percentage salary increases for the past nine years. The percentage rate of the increase along with any additional explanation of the criteria on which the increase is based is published in the Board Agenda and Board Minutes of the Board Meeting at which the salary increase is approved. The 2000-2001 salary increase was approved as part of the 2000-2001 budget at the August 22, 2000 Board Meeting.

The conference of the instructor and the evaluator includes a review of such items as syllabi, tests, and course materials. Faculty members who are judged to need improvements are required to meet specific objectives, which are stated in a memorandum attached to the evaluation form. Specific Criterion
A member institution which enters into such consortial relationships or contractual agreements MUST have sufficient control of relationship/agreements so as to maintain compliance with the Criteria when offering educational programs through such arrangements.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
The Virtual College of Texas is the only consortium agreement entered into by NHMCCD at this time for the purpose of offering credit classes or programs. A “Virtual College of Texas (VCT) Memorandum of Understanding” (MOU) is signed by the Chancellor. The MOU outlines the requirements for participating in the Virtual College of Texas. The MOU states that the provider and host college agree to abide by the requirements specified in the Virtual College of Texas Operations Manual that covers course evaluation, and verification of the credentials of the faculty. Participating colleges maintain control as they may choose the courses they will offer, either as a provider or a host.

NHMCCD occasionally contracts with private entities for the purpose of offering credit courses through the CE or CBED Departments. The courses that were reviewed by the audit team were developed in conjunction with the corresponding academic departments and are in compliance with the SACS Criteria. This is reflected in the language of the agreement, the faculty statement of qualification, and the statement of cooperation with the credit department.

Specific Criterion
All consortia and contracts MUST be evaluated regularly.

Recommendation
The Self-Study Committee recommends that the College District initiate and document a procedure and schedule for regular review and evaluation of all contractual and consortial agreements entered into by the District, including those established for the purpose of offering credit courses or programs and other educational services and programs.

Current Status and Analysis
There is no documentation of regular review and evaluation of all contracts and consortia entered into by the College District.

The following specific consortial agreements and contracts were reviewed for a provision for regular evaluation of the agreement within the document itself:

“An Agreement for Shared Library Automation Resources Between North Harris Montgomery Community College District and Montgomery County”

The Shared Library Automation agreement is in compliance. Language in the contractual agreement indicates the frequency with which the contract is reviewed. Original contract was established in 1993, for review in 1998. Second contract was signed in 1998 for review in three years, and a year-to-year basis thereafter.

SBDC Contracts; TechForce 2000 Contracts; Workforce Training Contracts

The SBDC Contract is renewed annually and is subject to evaluation at that time.
Workforce Training contracts are prepared by the College District on a case by case basis and are subject to review at the time of preparation. TechForce 2000 agreement is reviewed as each contract is renewed.

Virtual College of Texas Operations Manual and Memorandum of Understanding
The Virtual College of Texas (VCT) Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between the College District and the Virtual College of Texas states that when a college signs the MOU, that college agrees to abide by the requirements specified in the Virtual College of Texas Operations Manual. The MOU is signed only once, in the course of participation, and there is no requirement either in the VCT documentation or in College District documentation that this consortial relationship be evaluated regularly.

Section 4.9.1  p. 51  Line 1  Educational Program

Specific Criterion
The member institution MUST maintain the quality of all courses/programs offered through the consortium.

Acceptable, No Recommendations

Current Status and Analysis
The College District participates in the Virtual College of Texas Consortium for the purpose of hosting and providing credit courses. All institutions participating in the Virtual College of Texas are accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, thereby assuring the quality of courses and programs. In addition, the Southern Association will separately accredit the Virtual College of Texas.

Suggestion
The Self-Study Committee suggests that a quality program at the local level be assured through the establishment of consistent and systematic College District procedures for participation in the Virtual College of Texas (VCT). The VCT has established generic procedures in their Operations Manual to enable host and provider colleges to maintain a quality program. While NHMCCD may be following many of these procedures, systematic and consistent procedures at the District level have not been established.

Educational courses/programs offered through a consortial relationship MUST be related to the teaching purpose of the institution and comply with the Criteria.

The College District offers educational credit courses through a consortial relationship with the Virtual College of Texas.

The educational courses offered through the VCT are related to the teaching purpose of NHMCCD and comply with the SACS Criteria, as they provide instruction in academic or technical course areas. Current Status and Analysis
The NHMCCD library program provides bibliographic access to all classified materials through the Dynix online public access catalog (OPAC). Each college has open stacks, and patrons have physical access to resources on site. Library users have bibliographic access to all resources listed in the Dynix online public access catalog OPAC. Available resources include circulating material, closed reserves, periodicals, various audio-visual materials, micro formats and electronic resources, including more than 10,000 electronic books are available through NetLibrary. These resources and services are evaluated regularly and systematically to ensure that they adequately meet the needs of the users and are supporting the programs and purpose of the institution.

As the colleges expand, course offerings are provided at centers away from the parent colleges. Library resources are available to all faculty members and enrolled students at the centers. Provisions are available through the NHMCCD courier service for students to access materials from the campuses.

Automated Library Services, located at the district offices, supports the campus libraries and ensures that appropriate access and migration paths are maintained throughout the library program. One of the most recent upgrades, WebPAC, allows library users to access the online public access library catalog from outside the library. This upgrade allows enrolled students, faculty and staff to search for books from their homes or from their offices. This feature has helped to ensure that faculty and enrolled students have access to library and learning resources wherever the programs or courses are located and however they are delivered. Upgrades occur in a timely manner; the latest is scheduled for Spring 2001 and will move the OPAC from a text-based interface via Dynix to a graphical interface via Horizon.

Specific Criterion
Of more importance are the quality, relevance, accessibility, availability and delivery of resources and services, and their actual use by students, regardless of location. These considerations MUST be taken into account in evaluating the effectiveness of library and learning resource support.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
The NHMCCD Collection Development Guidelines provide directions for ensuring quality and relevance of resources. Bibliographic access and availability are ensured through the Dynix online public access catalog (OPAC). Students are able to view bibliographic records of books and other materials via the Dynix online public access catalog (OPAC) and determine if the desired resources are available within the system. Eligible patrons may locate and place holds on circulating resources anywhere in the system. Electronic access to citations, abstracts, and full text resources is available at all of the colleges and centers. Various printed lists are also available throughout the district. Materials requested from another location are available to the borrower within 2-3 days. Availability and delivery of resources and services are also ensured through a district delivery courier. Actual use of resources and services by students is primarily recorded electronically through Dynix. However, library staff systematically collects some data manually. These data are collected and assessed regularly and systematically and are taken into account in evaluating the effectiveness of library and learning resource support.

Specific Criterion
Each institution MUST ensure that all students and faculty members have access to a broad range of learning resources to support its purpose and programs at both primary and distance learning sites.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
The NHMCCD libraries ensure that faculty and students have access to a broad range of learning resources to support the purposes and programs of the institution, including the provision of adequate resources and services that support distance-learning activities. The primary access tool is the OPAC. The OPAC is accessible via Pac for Windows (onsite) or Harmony (from outside the library). A significant range of learning resources supports the purpose and programs at both primary and distance learning sites. The OPAC is accessible via the Web for students, faculty and staff who want to search for books from home or office, including a broad range of databases that are currently accessible from home by password. Remote Patron Authentication (RPA) verifies directly against the patron file, verifying that the patron meets library defined criteria. Based on information contained in the patron’s record at the time of the online resource request, RPA qualifies the patron and determines which online resources the patron is eligible to access. The authenticated patron chooses from a list of approved resources, passing approved credentials on to the online database provider simply by clicking on the desired resource. Descriptions and instructions for accessing the resources are available on each library’s Web page. Usage statistics on the major tools are collected electronically.

Current Status and Analysis
Each library provides students with opportunities to learn how to access information in different formats so they can continue life-long learning. Some of the formats include traditional print, a variety of electronic formats, including citations only, abstracts and full-text periodicals, newspapers, and electronic books, microformats, closed reserves and audio visuals.

Libraries MUST work cooperatively with faculty members and other information providers in assisting students to use resource materials effectively.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
The NHMCCD libraries work cooperatively with faculty and other information providers in assisting students to use materials effectively. The colleges either have advisory committees or other systematic means of communicating directly with faculty and other information providers.

Kingwood, North Harris and Tomball Colleges have commissions that serve as advisory boards to the library staff. Montgomery College does not have an advisory board but each librarian is assigned to a number of faculty as a liaison.

Having faculty status affords the librarians direct contact with college faculty senates. The librarians attend the faculty senate meetings and communicate freely with the faculty. Each college conducts inservice activities, and the librarians work cooperatively with faculty members and other information providers in preparing to facilitate students’ use of resource materials.

Specific Criterion
Library collections MUST be cataloged and organized in an orderly, easily accessible arrangement following national bibliographic standards and conventions.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
The AACR2 is utilized for cataloging and the Library of Congress Classification System is utilized for classifying library materials. Additionally, the North Harris College library serves as a selective government depository receiving approximately twenty-five percent of the items available to depository libraries. A collection of selected Texas documents is available in microfiche and paper. Most of the documents appear in the online catalog by subject or title. A Government Documents web page is linked to North Harris College’s library web page. The college libraries exercise a great deal of freedom in locally organizing materials. Each college may designate special collection codes, based on local initiatives and priorities.

The Technical Services Department, a part of Automated Library Services, is centrally located at the District Offices. This department electronically completes the orders initiated in the acquisitions module at the campuses, receives the materials from the jobbers, distributors or publishers, reconciles records, catalogs, classifies, processes and distributes all materials requested through the Dynix acquisition system or other mutually agreed upon distributors. When the materials reach the campus, they are “shelf-ready.”

Another major function of Automated Library Services is interlibrary loans. While interlibrary loans can be initiated at any district location, Automated Library Services processes all interlibrary loan requests. The requests are centrally processed by Automated Library Services utilizing the OCLC database.

Centralized processing ensures that the library collections are cataloged and organized in an orderly, easily accessible arrangement following national bibliographic standards and conventions.

Electronic resources, including more than 10,000 electronic books, are available through NetLibrary. Thousands of full-text periodicals in more than 50 electronic databases are available to students and faculty. These resources and services are evaluated regularly and systematically to ensure that in incorporating technological advances into library and other learning resource operations the technology adequately meets the needs of library users and supports the programs and purpose of the institution.

Section 5.1.5   p. 56   Line 33
Educational Support Services

Specific Criterion

Cooperative agreements with other libraries and agencies should be considered to enhance the resources and services available to an institution’s students and faculty members. However, these agreements MUST not be used by institutions to avoid responsibility for providing adequate and readily accessible library resources and services.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis

The NHMCCD Libraries maintain local, statewide, and national cooperative agreements for the purpose of enhancing resources and services available to their constituents. Formal arrangements exist between Amigos, a nonprofit library resource-sharing network and NHMCCD.

North Harris College has an agreement with the Government Printing Office to serve as a Federal Depository Library. The Government Printing Office evaluates this agreement every five years. North Harris College, in turn, has an agreement with Tomball College Library and Automated Library Services to serve as selective depositories for certain government documents. These agreements are reviewed every five years.

NHMCCD’s relationship with Amigos has been critical to the libraries’ ability to provide rapid access to electronic resources. Amigos’ negotiations with electronic database vendors and aggregators have provided an economy of scale in price negotiations that would not have been possible at the local levels.

The services provided by Texshare and TEXpress were also augmented by the district’s relationship with Amigos. TexShare is a cooperative program designed to broaden the range of materials and services that participating libraries can provide.
The Texpress courier service provides five day-a-week pickup and delivery service to participating libraries, with deliveries around Texas in two days. The Texas State Library & Archives Commission’s “Courier Statistics by Use Year 2000” reflects courier utilization for the 2000 fiscal year:

This level of utilization is one indicator of cooperation and resource sharing among state libraries, including NHMCCD. The reciprocal arrangements with Texshare, Texpress, Amigos and other agencies enhance services and resources for the district’s library users, and are not used to avoid the responsibility of providing adequate and readily accessible resources and services.

An agreement called “An Agreement for Shared Automation Resources Between North Harris Montgomery Community College district and Montgomery County” is in compliance. Language in the contractual agreement indicates the frequency with which the contract is reviewed. The original contract was established in 1993, and was reviewed in 1998. The second contract was signed in 1998 and is due for review in 2001. From that point, the agreement will be reviewed on a year-to-year basis. Library users are afforded many benefits through this agreement.

Current Status and Analysis
All agreements are formal and have been signed by appropriate college officials. The Tomball College Library’s relationship with Tomball Hospital is a cooperative arrangement but not a formal agreement. All consortial relationships undergo continuous review through regular meetings of steering committees, advisory groups, working groups, and other representative bodies. However, this process is not formal.

“All Agreement for Shared Library Automation Resources Between North Harris Montgomery Community College District and Montgomery County” is in compliance. Language in the contractual agreement indicates the frequency with which the contract is reviewed. The original contract was established in 1993 and was reviewed in 1998. The TexShare Interlibrary Loan agreement was evaluated and revised in 1998. The TexShare Reciprocal Borrowing agreement was reviewed, but not revised, in 1999 by the advisory committee. TexShare Program became available to community colleges in 1997, and agreements were evaluated by the District prior to signing.

Specific Criterion
Libraries and other learning resources MUST be adequately staffed by professionals who have graduate degrees in library science or in related fields such as learning resources or information technology.

Current Status and Analysis
Graduate transcripts reflect that all librarians have graduate degrees in library science or in related fields. Transcripts for all librarians are on file in Human Resources.

NHMCCD libraries, as part of the educational support components of the colleges, participate in college budgeting processes. Staffing needs are evaluated systematically. Staffing is tied to institutional and campus-specific initiatives. When staffing needs are identified, requests are made to appropriate hiring authorities, and library staff participate in the hiring process at the college level.

Staffing issues that may have an impact on the effectiveness and efficiency of the institution’s library program may be discussed during the monthly Library Executive Committee (LIBEX) meetings. LIBEX is a committee comprised of the library directors, the Director of Automated Library Services and the Vice Chancellor for Telecommunications and Information Systems. This group meets monthly. During one of the fall 2000 meetings, the effectiveness and the degree to which Automated Library Services was/will be able to respond efficiently to the needs of four (soon to be five college libraries) were discussed. The Vice Chancellor for Telecommunications and Information Systems, to whom the area of Automated Library Services reports, took the committee’s recommendations and suggestions under advisement and will consider the committee’s input in decisions that globally relate to improving library services.

Suggestion
The Self-Study Committee suggests that in light of the rate at which library services have increased, the institution continue to assess the effectiveness of staffing levels in order to be able to participate in the planning and budgeting processes as appropriate.

Librarians in the North Harris Montgomery Community College District have a twelve-month contract and faculty status. As faculty, they are members of the faculty senate, and can take advantage of faculty benefits such as negotiated workloads, stipends, release time opportunities, and sabbatical leave. Librarians are awarded contracts annually for the first three years of employment. After that, a multi-year contract is awarded based on satisfactory performance evaluations. Like classroom faculty, librarians are evaluated annually for the first three years following a standard district-wide evaluation process. Librarian salaries are based on experience and their education credentials.

The librarian job description and salary structure for 12-month faculty can be found on the District’s Human Resources Web page. Salaries are posted on position announcements for librarians.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
The NHMCCD libraries own appropriate resources; utilize technology to provide access to electronic information; and provide access to materials through formal agreements. Resources or access to resources are provided in the following ways: The instructional locations offer on-site bibliographic access materials. Off campus locations are provided lists of materials available at campus libraries; and courier service delivers needed materials. Remote access to the OPAC is available through Harmony. Remote access to full text electronic databases is also available.

NHMCCD libraries are designed for student use from all instructional and remote locations. The library Web pages provide subject and assignment guides; remote access to databases, instructional materials; access to library catalogs in area libraries; lists of resources located at area libraries and access to the library catalog NHMCCD and the Montgomery County Public Libraries.
The TexShare and Montgomery County Agreements provide for reciprocal borrowing and interlibrary loan. Texpress courier service is available at all colleges. Onsite database usage is available. A reciprocal agreement exists with the Montgomery County Library System. A common OPAC affords access to library materials to both community borrowers and college students.

Specific Criterion

When formal agreements are established for the provision of library resources and services, they MUST ensure access to library resources pertinent to the programs offered by the institution and include provision for services and resources which support the institution’s specific programs—in the field of study and at the degree level offered.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis

The TexShare agreements and the agreement with Montgomery County provide for reciprocal borrowing, and interlibrary loan that are facilitated by courier service. Access is available to library resources pertinent to the programs offered by the institution and include provision for services and resources that support the institution’s specific programs—in the field of study and at the degree level offered.

On site access to databases is available at all college locations either on-site or through the District Web sites. The Montgomery County Shared Automation System Consortium facilitates effective access to resources that support the institution’s specific programs. Students, faculty and staff have access to resources that support the specific programs of the institution. Access to resources from Texshare libraries is especially useful in supporting specific programs—in the field of study and at the degree level offered.

Specific Criterion

To support its curriculum, each institution MUST provide a variety of facilities and instructional support services (e.g., educational equipment and specialized facilities such as laboratories, audiovisual [AV] and duplicating services, and learning skills center) that are organized and administrated so as to provide easy access to faculty and student users.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis

The institution provides a variety of facilities and instructional support services that are organized and administered so as to provide easy access to faculty and student users and specifically to extend learning beyond the classroom. Comprehensive services and facilities are planned and designed to facilitate student success. The variety of facilities and instructional support services include learning support centers at each college. These centers may provide classroom presentations, customized brochures, individualized tutoring in reading, writing, math, science, foreign languages, ESL and other disciplines, group study or support sessions, learning communities, training in research skills, Internet access, electronic support software, educational support equipment such as photocopiers, micro-format readers, television monitors, various compact players, duplicating equipment and facilities, computer workstations and printers, as well as specialized laboratories that support specific disciplines. Materials supporting both direct course outcomes and generalized study skills and success seminars are also available. Much of the support and tracking are available electronically.

An array of services is available for faculty. Services include special topics support, in-class workshops, personalized tutoring, customized handouts, and English software programs to support instruction.

Specific attention has been given to creating comprehensive systems for communicating, coordinating, and improving support services that facilitate successful experiences of under-prepared students.

Specific Criterion
An institution MUST provide evidence that it is incorporating technological advances into its operations.

Acceptable, No recommendations

Current Status and Analysis
NHMCCD uses and supports technology at all planning, organizing and operational levels. Technological advances are infused into educational programs, educational support services and administrative processes. Computer hardware and software are maintained both on routine / preventative and on an as needed basis. Each college chooses its preventative maintenance programs, respectively. Each college has an organized system for responding to operational maintenance needs. Faculty and staff have access to computers, printers and appropriate software.

Educational programs are supported with technology in a number of ways. Faculty have desktop access to class rosters, student schedules, transcripts, and have the ability to determine quantitative criteria for students’ standings, award of advanced standing or need for intervention. Some faculty use technology to take advantage of new and emerging teaching techniques. These techniques include online courses, placing syllabi on the web, electronically tracking student progress, using multiple content-specific software packages, using wireless networks, utilizing laptops in various classes, maintaining chat rooms and e-mail with focused group and content “communities”.

Educational support services are supported district wide and at the college level. One of the major educational support conveniences is stable library service. There is a full-service library at each college, providing information access and assistance, an online public access catalog (OPAC) and a variety of electronic resources that are Internet reliant. The libraries are hubs of educational support services throughout the district. NHMCCD supports a common collection of more than 150,000 print and more than 10,000 electronic books, thousands of electronic journals, government documents and many duplicated and unique electronic databases. The availability of technological advances affords each library the ability to support and enhance local programs and courses. District libraries purchase electronic access to databases when appropriate to take advantage of price breaks.

The North Harris Montgomery Automated Library Consortium combines the libraries of NHMCCD with the county libraries of Montgomery County to provide automated library services for the two parent organizations, which share the budget. NHMCCD provides the physical facilities for the hardware and the staff to support the software and the network that connects the six county and four college libraries to a union catalog, which serves all 10 libraries. The library program is effectively supported by technology that is infused in administrative processes throughout the district. One of the most serviceable examples of the use of technology in administrative processes is the prominent presence of the district web page. This page is maintained in the office of Telecommunications and Information Systems and serves as a starting point for district information. As a key resource, the NHMCCD web page outlines the current policies and procedures manual delineating the following:

- Section A - Basic District Foundations
- Section B - Local Governance
- Section C - Business and Support Services
- Section D - Personnel
- Section E - Instruction
- Section F - Students
- Section G - Community and Governmental Relations local governance, personnel
The availability of technology also significantly helps set the stage for internal and external communication.

Information technology resources MUST support the planning function and the educational program component of the institution at appropriate levels.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis

The district, through each college and district office, estimates the income and expenditures for the fiscal year of the institution. Through the automated budget module of the Datatel Colleague system, the appropriate detail is developed. Personnel annual salaries are detailed in the system as well as by line item object. These are examples of incorporating technological advances into administrative operations at the district level. Each college, using Datatel Colleague as the primary aggregator of institutional data, plans, develops, monitors and maintains appropriate fiscal controls. College level decisions are based on definitive data captured through Colleague or collected and managed for use in continuous improvement initiatives at the college level. Interim budget statements are made available on a consistent basis. Technology affords cost center managers access to time-sensitive and decision-sensitive data. All components of the district participate in planning cycles and use technological advances in these cycles.

Section 5.3   p. 58   Line 27   Educational Support Services

Specific Criterion

Although the diversity of educational programs and goals will be a major determining factor in the selection of information technology resources by an institution, there MUST be a reasonable infusion of information technology into the curricula so that students exit with fundamental knowledge and basic ability to use these resources in everyday life and in future occupations.
Acceptable, No recommendations

Current Status and Analysis
The institution infuses information technology into the curricula so that students exit with fundamental knowledge and basic ability to use these resources in everyday life and in future occupations.

Other evidence of the incorporation of technological advances in educational support services includes library services as demonstrated through an effective orientation program, the availability of appropriate access to electronic databases, and e-mail accounts for all students and faculty in the NHMCCD community. Students use technology to write, edit and conduct research in classes across the curriculum. Subject-specific software and hardware are heavily used in all instructional areas. There is evidence that technology is infused throughout the institution.

Current Status and Analysis
Academic Systems and Administrative Systems:
Datatel’s Colleague software is controlled by user login ID and password. These passwords expire every 90 days and must be changed. The system will not allow a user to reuse a password in 12 months timeframe. To gain access to Colleague, users must declare their desire to their supervisor, and submit a request to IT via Email. A copy of the request is sent to the user’s supervisor for approval. If the supervisor gives approval, IT grants the privilege. A list of users and their specific access is provided to Internal Audit on an annual basis or more frequently if requested. Internal Audit will review access with a specific department head if it is determined that dual controls or proper controls are not present.

Network access and E-mail
To gain a network login or an E-mail login, a user must be an employee or student. Each user must request access through an Internet form and if their specific information (SSN and Birth date) matches Colleague, then a password is granted. This procedure does not allow access to Colleague, as it requires a separate security as discussed above.

Specific Criterion
Appropriate student development services MUST be provided for distance learning programs as well as on-campus programs.

Recommendation
The Self-Study Committee recommends that information about student development programs and services consistently appear on college web sites and that information be made available to students currently enrolled in distance learning formats.

Current Status and Analysis
Information about student development functions, i.e. admissions, registration, student organizations, testing, etc. are listed on the web sites of the colleges. Information includes directory information for student development staff members, hours of operation for student development offices, services and programs offered, commonly asked questions, and procedures for registering or filing for financial aid. However, the existence of this information varies from college web site to college web site. All the colleges have been or are currently in the process of updating their web sites.

As a result of the compliance audit and committee work, new student orientation materials are available to students in electronic format. A subcommittee of the Distance Learning Committee has been addressing the issue of making student development services available to distance learning students. An evaluation of student development services available in on-line or other distance formats has been conducted and subcommittee members are working to establish access to more services.
Telephone and on-line registration is available to returning students. The academic schedule books, which are widely distributed, feature instructions for use.

Current Status and Analysis
Evaluations of student development services and programs are conducted regularly at all the colleges. Evaluations of services most often take the form of a card, “So how are we doing?” and are set out for students to use in the functional area offices. Forms used to evaluate student development enrichment and student success programs are much more varied as they are developed by the different offices offering the programs.

Additionally, the Gulf Coast Consortium of Community Colleges conducts an annual survey of student satisfaction in conjunction with the colleges. One of the many things it is designed to measure is student services and programs.

Grants provide for evaluation of their overall program in exit interviews or evaluations. Evaluations typically follow support programs either through the exit interviews or through an evaluation immediately following the program.

The NHMCCD policy manual also lists disciplinary policies and procedures in section FM and addresses students’ rights in the process of academic appeals in section EGB.

In addition to the catalog, current course schedules have a section entitled “Student’s Right to Know,” which also publicizes expectations for student conduct and refers students to sources of more information

Section 5.4.3.5   p. 61   Line 27   Educational Support Services

Specific Criterion
The institution should provide an effective program of financial aid consistent with its purpose and reflecting the needs of its students. Effective program administration should include counseling students on the efficient use of their total financial aid resources. There MUST be provision for institution-wide coordination of all financial aid awards.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
NHMCCD participates in programs that provide aid through grants, scholarships, part-time employment and loans. Students choosing to apply for these programs must contact the FA office, at the college the student plans to attend, well in advance of registration. Students may schedule appointments with Financial Aid counselors to learn of the efficient use of their total financial aid resources. Also, Financial Aid counselors at each college campus facilitate outreach presentations at high schools and college fairs to inform potential students and parents regarding financial aid options.

NHMCCD has established a Financial Aid Council that meets bi-weekly throughout the year to discuss district financial aid policy and procedure. As a result of this district council, Title IV award amounts have been agreed upon for all 4 NHMCCD campuses.

The District Director of Financial Aid, the FA Council members and the staff members at the different locations are working on the following areas for improved coordination of financial aid policies and procedures for NHMCCD (not in priority order):
Standards of Academic Progress (in progress)
Verification (to be completed 6/2001)
Electronic Data Exchange (in progress)
Scholarships (in progress)
College Work Study (in progress)
Title IV Refunds
Professional Judgement (to be completed by 3/2001)
Loans (completed as of 6/2000)

Suggestion
The Self Study Committee suggests that NHMCCD establish district-wide financial aid procedures allowing for autonomy (since the population that we serve differs). These procedures must be approved by the Financial Aid Council and be accessible to all campuses. The District Director of Financial Aid should be responsible for implementing these procedures.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
An NHMCCD annual financial report is conducted by an auditing service contracted by the district. In addition, internal audits across NHMCCD are conducted when problems arise.

Suggestion
The results are not always shared with the parties involved. Findings of the audit may not be addressed because the parties being audited are not aware of the findings. The Self-Study Committee suggests that the result of every audit (external and internal) be distributed to all the parties involved and appropriate actions be taken according to the findings.

Specific Criterion
An institution participating in Title IV programs MUST comply with the regulations in the student loan programs as established under Title IV of the 1992 Higher Education Amendments. Excessive default rates in the student loan program may be cause for conducting a special evaluation.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
The FFEL policies and procedures are complete. The Financial Aid Council met and agreed that there will not be an origination fee included on the calculation of the student’s cost of attendance for any NHMCCD loan. This change became effective for the 2000-2001 award year. The FY 1998 Official Cohort Default Rate for NHMCCD as published by the US Department of Education on September 28, 2000 is 12.9%. This rate is significantly lower than the previous year’s default rate.

Specific Criterion
An institution MUST provide access to an effective program of health services and education consistent with its purpose and reflecting the needs of its constituents.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
There are statements in the NHMCCD Catalog and student handbook that discourage certain unhealthy and destructive behaviors such as use of controlled substances and alcohol and forbid the possession of weapons on campus. In case of injury or illness, students, faculty, and staff are instructed to call Campus Security, the Student Development Office or, if the situation warrants, paramedic emergency assistance by dialing 911.

There are numerous Wellness Activities available to students/faculty/staff including fitness centers, formal fitness classes, and self-guided activities. Nutritional and fitness information is offered frequently on each campus. These services and programs are consistent with the needs of the commuter population attending NHMCCD campuses.

Specific Criterion
The administration MUST reflect the purpose and philosophy of the institution and enable each functional unit to perform its particular responsibilities as defined by the stated purpose of the institution.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Board Policy BAA reflects that the Board will “nurture the District under its governance to the end that it achieves its full potential within its role and mission; and shall insist on clarity of focus and mission of the District under its governance.”

Board Policy BG provides: “The Board through its adoption of policy provides the direction for the District to accomplish its mission. …Operating under a line and staff form of organization, appropriate reporting lines are defined by the Chancellor. The District will maintain a council and committee structure to create opportunities for employees, students and others to have input into the decision-making processes of the District. The executive officers have direct access to the Chancellor and have line authority in their respective areas of responsibility.”

Each year the Chancellor provides to the Board an updated organizational charge reflecting the administrative organizational lines.

The administration reviews the mission, purposes and values of the District every other year, and advises the Board of any revisions that need to be made. In the process of the review and in the setting of the District’s budget, each unit evaluates its own goals and achievements in relation to the mission, purpose and values.

Specific Criterion

Because the financial resources of an institution influence the quality of its educational program, each institution MUST possess sufficient financial resources to support all of its programs.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis

“Sufficient financial resources” is a phrase, which is difficult to substantiate in absolute terms. As a comparative measure, it is possible to determine how the NHMCCD compares to similar community colleges. Because the criterion makes reference to “all of its programs”, the focus is on the academic programs offered by the colleges. In order to do comparisons, we are using an index to place the institutions on a similar base.
Expenditures per contact hours by program compared to median costs give us that comparative picture. The “basic purpose” would be described in the mission statement. The adequacy of financial resources should be judged in relation to the basic purpose or the mission of the institution. [Institutional Effectiveness Measures – quality, diverse individuals (credit), diverse businesses (Corporate Training), diverse community (Community Education), knowledge, skills and attitudes for a rapidly changing world [skill development / contracts and grants].

On the macro level, using NACUBO Financial Statistics, NHMCCD compares well with similar colleges. NHMCCD has been willing to raise taxes and support bond referendums, as needed.

Suggestion

The Self-Study Committee suggests that because of the significant variances that appear in the Cost per Contact Hours compared with the state median costs (without overhead), the District should review the costs and the contact hours to determine why these specific discipline area differences are more than 25%.

Specific Criterion

The recent financial history of the institution MUST also demonstrate the financial stability essential to its successful operation.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis

Current fund balance changes and the ratios of debt/equity and current expenditures/fund balance demonstrate the financial stability of the District. The growth trend in the number of students indicates that the programs are viable and meeting the needs of our constituency. The District has had stable financial resources from a growing student body and a growing tax base.

Specific Criterion
The organization of the business office MUST be consistent with the purpose of the institution, the size of the institution, and the volume of transactions of a business or financial nature.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
All business and financial functions are centralized under the chief business officer reporting to the chief executive officer, with certain business functions delegated through the chief executive officer to the college president. Each college has a business officer reporting to the college president. The organization of the business office is consistent with the purpose of the institution. The chief financial officer develops the estimate of resources available and assists the organization in its allocation of those resources. The local academic officer and the college president, provide for the financial plan to meet the purpose of the institution (i.e. develop quality education programs to meet the needs of individuals, businesses and the community that they serve). The size of the institution and the volume of transactions call for the need to have decentralized financial planning and operations at the local community level. The business office does assist in the preparation and control of the annual budget by assisting the chief executive officer as he works with the board of trustees and the college presidents. The district’s organization chart that describes the job responsibilities of the Vice Chancellor of Business Affairs/Chief Financial Officer indicates the alignment with the most important functions typically performed by the business office.

Specific Criterion
An institution MUST prepare an appropriately detailed annual budget.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
The District through each college and district office does prepare an estimate of income and expenditures for the fiscal year of the institution. Through the automated budget module of the Datatel Colleague system, the appropriate detail is developed. Personnel salary amounts are detailed in the system as well as individual cost center's budgets by line-item object. These detailed budgets are rolled-up into numerous summary reports, which are reviewed and discussed by the various levels of management at each location. The detail is available to the decision-makers at each stage of the budget-development process. The Board reviews the detailed budget each year before they approve it.

Specific Criterion
Its (the budget’s) preparation and execution MUST be preceded by sound educational planning.

Current Status and Analysis
The District has established a planning process, which includes an evaluation cycle. Each year a calendar is developed for the academic year two years in the future. Each college has published a strategic plan as a guide for operational planning for the fiscal year. The District’s Vice Chancellors are responsible for a strategic plan for their specific area. A description of the planning process for each college budgetary process is described in its plan.

Since all colleges and most Vice Chancellors responded to the questionnaire, the subcommittee feels that adequate documentation exists to show the District in compliance. In addition, facility master planning has been done for each location. These plans lay out the use of the land space for each campus as far into the future as is necessary to show the full use of the area.

The availability of budget money is verified before the revision is processed. A copy of the approved and entered form is returned to indicate the completion of the process to the cost center manager. Current Status and Analysis
Does Not Apply. SFAS No. 117 applies to private institutions. NHMCCD is a public institution.
Specific Criterion
A for-profit institution and its corporate parent, if any, MUST add to their audit report a separate schedule indicating the disposition of profits, including detailed information on corporate income tax paid, both state and federal, and on dividends distributed to stockholders.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Does Not Apply. NHMCCD is not a for-profit institution.

Specific Criterion
A public institution included in a statewide audited or systemwide audited financial report, for which a separate institutional audit report is not available for the fiscal year ending immediately prior to the committee visit, MUST have available, in lieu of audited financial statements, a Standard Review Report in accordance with AICPA Professional Standards AR 100.35 to include current funds expenditure classifications and amounts in accordance with generally accepted principles of institutional accounting, and the institution's current fund balance sheet.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Does Not Apply. NHMCCD is not part of a statewide report. NHMCCD has a separate institutional audit report.

Specific Criterion
The auditors MUST not be directly connected with the institution either personally or professionally.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
The external auditors for NHMCCD issued an independent auditors' report, which accompanies the financial statements of NHMCCD in its Annual Financial Report. In paragraph two of the auditor's report, a statement declares that the audit was conducted... according to Generally Accepted Auditing Standards (GAAS). One General Standard included in GAAS is that independence is to be maintained by the auditors.

Section 6.3.6  p. 73  Line 6  Administrative Processes

Specific Criterion
An effective program of internal auditing and financial control MUST be maintained to complement the accounting system and the annual external audit.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
NHMCCD has an Internal Auditor Coordinator who designs an annual internal audit plan. He carries out the plan or contracts with an outside audit firm to perform certain tasks if a specialized expertise is needed or if the task is very labor intensive. When recommendations are made within NHMCCD, the Coordinator does follow up to see that the recommendations were carried out. Reports from the Coordinator are given to the Chief Financial Officer and to the Chancellor.

Section 6.3.7  p. 73  Line 15  Administrative Processes

Specific Criterion
An institution MUST maintain proper control over purchasing and inventory management.

Recommendation
The Self-Study Committee recommends that NHMCCD complete the review and revision of current policy and procedures and forward the recommendations to the Vice Presidents for Administration Council (VPAD) for implementation. Since the current practices are not in exact compliance with current Board policy, but the policy revisions being developed will mirror current practice, it is assumed that once the new policy is in place, the violation will cease and the District will then be in compliance with that policy. When that occurs, the District will also be in compliance with this “must” statement.

Current Status and Analysis
The Board of Trustees’ Policy for Purchasing and Acquisition following applicable State of Texas law sets the parameters with specifics for ALL categories of purchases. The Board Policy also requires that procedures be implemented to ensure that policy is being followed. Both policy and procedures are in place to direct that proper control over purchasing be established. There are regular violations of the policy and procedure. A recent internal audit report describes some of those violations. In addition, volume statistics for payments that are made from check requisitions imply that significant numbers of purchases are being made without purchase order. Current policy is under review and revision to align with current acceptable procedures and practices.

Specific Criterion
There MUST be a suitable organization and adequate procedures for the management of all funds belonging to the institution.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
The District provides for cashiering at each of its colleges and the District Office. The cashiering function is "organized" under the direction and control of the Vice President for Administrative Services at each College, or the Executive Director of Finance and Treasury at the District Office. The procedures for management of all funds belonging to the institution are described in the Business Operations Manual. Section 4.4.3 specifically deals with receipts and deposits.

Documentation
Business Operations Manual Section 4.4.3; Process maps Section 4.5.

Specific Criterion
The cashiering function should be centralized in the business office, and there MUST be a carefully developed system for the receipt, deposit and safeguarding of institutional funds.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
The internal auditor will need to be employed in the discovery of the cashiering centralization in the business office. It is possible that certain CE/CT offices or registration cashiering functions do not report directly to the business office, even though the receipts are processed through the business office. The District does have a carefully developed system for the receipt, deposit and safeguarding of institutional funds, however, there are issues related to the processing of open batches of cash receipts. This process should be reviewed.

Current Status and Analysis
The District maintains Commercial Crime Policy 71BY10046874, through Aetna Casualty and Surety Company. This bond provides for the insurance against theft, disappearance, and destruction in the amount of $250,000 subject to a $2,500 per occurrence deductible. The term is 1/16/2000 to 1/16/2003. Coverage is universal for all employees.

Administrative Processes

Specific Criterion
The institution MUST have a written statement of its investment policies and guidelines approved by the Board.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Investment Policy CAK (Local/Legal) sets out the investment policy of the District approved by the Board. The goals of the institution in policy and guidelines are not included in the Policy and are not clearly defined in the guidelines (procedures). The “Operational Strategies” section governs the granting or withholding of investment discretion based on liquidity needs, credit risk and interest rate risk. The “Authorized Investments” section describes the authorized and prohibited investment transactions. The criteria for performance measurement are shown on the investment reports, but are not described in the Policy or the Guidelines. Board members must attend training, and thereby are aware of their fiduciary responsibility and their responsibility for securing maximum investment returns consistent with approved policy as described in the “Investment Training” section of the Policy. The Board has delegated the investments in the “Investment Officers” section, and limited the involvement in the “Internal Controls” section, which reduces the possibility for conflict of interest. The Board Conflict of Interest Policy is described in Board Policy BBF/BBFA.

The NHMCCD Board revised Investment Policy CAK at its June, 1999 meeting.
Specific Criterion
Investment policies and guidelines MUST be evaluated regularly.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
The Investment Policy is being reviewed at least annually. Amendments to the policy have occurred as follows: 5/2/97; 2/17/98 and 11/19/98. The guidelines were written 10/23/97 and have not been revised. The NHMCCD Board revised Investment Policy CAK at its June, 1999 meeting.

Specific Criterion
These activities, when operated by or for the institution, MUST be documented and operated in a fiscally responsible manner.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
The District contracts for operation of the NHMCCD bookstores and vending services and operates internally its food-service operations. The general concept of auxiliary services is the basis for breakeven. The criteria of “fiscally responsible” would imply that the enterprise should operate on at least a break-even basis. The bookstore and vending contracts provide a financial return in the form of commissions and/or a guaranteed annual payment. They are, therefore, providing more than a “break-even” operation. The bookstore and vending contracts include operational guidelines and "documentation" of the relationship between the vendors and the institution. The District uses the bid process to purchase food supplies for its in-house operated food service operations. This ensures that good business practices are used to reduce cost of goods sold. Overall, NHMCCD Auxiliary Funds must not operate "in the red", and they do not.

Section 6.4 p. 75 Line 1 Administrative Processes

Specific Criterion
Physical resources, including buildings and equipment on and off campus, MUST be adequate to serve the needs of the institution in relation to its stated purpose, program and activities.

Once needs of the institution have been identified through feasibility studies, programming and planning processes, resources are made available for buildings and equipment to support the institutional stated purpose.

Documentation

Section 6.4.1 p. 75 Line 7 Administrative Processes

Specific Criterion
Space allocated to any institutional function MUST be adequate for the effective conduct of that function.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Facility Master Plans for all colleges reflect the allocation of space for the effective conduct of institutional functions. Documents are on file at the District Office in the office of the Director of Plant Operations and Construction.

Documentation
Master Plans for each college
Specific Criterion
An institution MUST have a plan for the upkeep of its property.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
All colleges have a formalized preventative maintenance and comprehensive facility deferred maintenance plan in place, which addresses the upkeep of its properties.

Documentation
Facility deferred maintenance plan for each college

Specific Criterion
At a minimum, the plan MUST address routine, preventative and deferred maintenance of buildings, equipment and grounds.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Each college has its own preventative maintenance software program. There is a check list of major pieces of equipment describing maintenance work required either monthly, quarterly or annually. Regular maintenance is scheduled daily based on the issue of work orders through work order forms or e-mail. The completion of these work orders is done through the preventive maintenance software program i.e. ACT 1000 or TMA.

A comprehensive facility deferred maintenance plan has been developed for each college. It spans a five-year time frame and includes maintenance of buildings, grounds, and capital equipment of each college. The format includes maintenance description, estimated cost, related time frames, priorities and funding. It also contains a tracking system completed projects and final cost.

Documentation
Facility deferred maintenance plan for each college

Specific Criterion
There should be a written schedule for regular maintenance activities and a written record of projects completed. The plan MUST be operational and evaluated annually.
Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Annual evaluation of the Building, Grounds and Equipment is done during the annual budgetary process. Between January and May each year, the comprehensive facility deferred maintenance plan is updated and revised by all college plant operations departments and approved by the administration. Priorities are established for each project to be used to expedite the decision-making process as to which projects will be executed when funding amounts are established each year. When funding amounts are furnished in August, each college again reviews their list of projects making alterations as necessary and a final list of projects is submitted to the Board of Trustees for approval.

Documentation

Specific Criterion
The institution MUST take reasonable steps to provide a healthful, safe and secure environment for all members of the campus community.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Each college has taken reasonable steps to provide a healthful, safe and secure environment for all members of the campus community through safety and procedures manuals for science labs, posting of egress routes in the event of an emergency, supporting evacuation procedures, and providing an adequate number of police officers.

Specific Criterion
Externally funded grants and contracts MUST be related to the stated purpose of the institution.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Applications and requests for funding from external sources are made in accordance with the district and college's mission, vision, goals, and priorities. Each college may develop internal review and approval processes as appropriate. All proposals submitted are to be based on identified needs of colleges and support of the NHMCCD's long range plans and institutional goals.

Section 6.5  p. 76  Line 6  Administrative Processes

Specific Criterion
The institution's policy on such grants and contracts MUST provide for an appropriate balance between grant and contract activity and instruction, and guarantee institutional control over the administration of research projects.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
Research projects, funded by external agencies, are not currently part of NHMCCD's grant programs and are more applicable to university settings. A policy providing a balance between instruction and grant activity is a part of the Resource Development Policy, providing for an appropriate balance between grant and contract activity and instruction.
Section 6.5  p. 76  Line 12  Administrative Processes

Specific Criterion
The researcher’s freedom to investigate and report results MUST be preserved. Research support from outside agencies should not undermine these basic research principles.

Current Status and Analysis
Does Not Apply. Research projects, funded by external agencies, are not currently part of NHMCCD’s grant programs and are more applicable to university settings.

Section 6.5  p. 76  Line 15  Administrative Processes

Specific Criterion
The institution MUST establish a clear policy concerning a faculty member's division of obligations between research and other academic activities.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
NHMCCD has no research grants and does not seek funding for such projects. However, current policy does specifically address faculty member’s division of obligations between research and other academic activities, providing a balance between instruction and grant activity. This policy applies to all faculty members, as the faculty Contract of Employment, states that all employees are subject to Board policies. The Contract of Employment: One-Year states “All employees are subject to by-laws, policies, and procedures adopted by the Board of Trustees and such…are as fully a part of this contract as if attached to this agreement or repeated herein.”

Documentation

Section 6.5  p. 77  Line 6  Administrative Processes

Specific Criterion
When the institution becomes even partially dependent upon such funds for faculty salaries and/or graduate student stipends, termination of grants and contracts can jeopardize an entire educational program. It IS ALSO IMPORTANT that an institution not become dependent upon indirect cost allowances from grants and contracts to support its regular operating budget.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
With total indirect cost amounting to only approximately $120,000 for the District in a fiscal year, the loss of such a small percentage (.12%) of the total Educational and General Budget of more than $98,800,000, would not jeopardize NHMCCD educational programs in any way.

Section 6.5  p. 78  Line 21

Specific Criterion
The institution's policy on such grants and contracts MUST provide for an appropriate balance between grant and contract activity and instruction, and guarantee institutional control over the administration of research projects.

Acceptable, No Recommendation

Current Status and Analysis
A policy providing a balance between instruction and grant activity is a part of the Resource Development policy. Because NHMCCD does not seek funds for research projects, the statement regarding guarantee of institutional control over the administration of research projects does not apply. However, the current Resource Development Policy does provide a balance between instruction and grant activity.

Specific Criterion
Because many agencies attach stringent regulations directing and limiting the activities for which they provide funding, the institution MUST safeguard control over its own activities.

Specific Criterion
When an institution is reliant upon such an entity, or when a separately incorporated or related entity is reliant upon the institution, documentation outlining the mutual relationship and benefits MUST be maintained by the institution. Documentation must include the following: a description of the separately incorporated unit’s activities; a statement demonstrating the manner in which the activities relate to purpose of the institution; a current roster of board members of the unit, including institutional personnel and board members who have responsibilities with both the institution and the incorporated entity, whether they are additionally compensated by the entity or not; a copy of the separately incorporated unit’s annual financial audit report for the most recently completed year; and copies of the charter and bylaws of the unit.

Recommendation
The Self-Study Committee recommends that NHMCCD develop and adopt a policy regarding association with separately incorporated entities and the required documentation, and that a district wide review of all associations with separately incorporated entities be reviewed for compliance
Current Status and Analysis
The District has several reliant associations with separately incorporated entities such as the NHMCCD Foundation and Techforce 2000 that appear to fall under this section. Documentation is in place outlining the relationship and benefits, but not all required information is captured in the proper format.

The District also does not have a policy regarding such associations and the required documentation.
Summary of Recommendations

1. Section 4.8  p. 40  Line 9  Educational Program

Recommendation
The Self Study Committee recommends that the institution provide evidence that it has employed faculty members qualified to accomplish its purpose. Vice Presidents and Associate Deans requesting required documentation from faculty and refraining from assigning faculty to courses in fields in which the faculty member does not meet SACS credential guidelines can accomplish this. If the Vice President can document non-traditional credentials, the Vice President may provide “exception” documentation for the faculty member’s personnel file.

2. Section 4.8  p. 40  Line 27  Educational Program

Recommendation
The Self Study Committee recommends that the institution show evidence that the faculty member has appropriate academic preparation. Associate Deans and Vice Presidents may ensure that all faculty hires will either have degrees from regionally accredited institutions or provide to NHMCCD an evaluation of foreign transcripts by an approved evaluation provider.

3. Section 4.8.2  p. 41  Line 10  Educational Program

Recommendation
The Self Study Committee recommends that the institution demonstrate that both full-time and part-time faculty meets the criterion. The recommendation status will remain until all Sections 4.8.2.1, p. 41, line 13 through 4.8.2.4, p. 46, line 11 are acceptable.

4. Section 4.8.2.1  p. 41  Line 13  Educational Program

Recommendation
The Self Study Committee recommends that all full-time and part-time faculty members teaching credit courses in humanities/fine arts; social/behavioral sciences; and natural sciences/mathematics will have completed at least 18 graduate semester hours in the teaching discipline and hold at least a master’s degree, or hold the minimum of a master’s degree with a major in the teaching discipline. Any faculty teaching in Fall 2000 not meeting the requirements will not be assigned classes in subsequent semesters.
5. Section 4.8.2.1 p. 42 Line 22 Educational Program

Recommendation
The Self Study Committee recommends that the institution take responsibility for keeping on file for all full-time and part-time faculty members documentation of academic preparation, such as official transcripts and, if appropriate for demonstrating competency, official documentation of professional and work experience, technical and performance competency, records of publications, certifications and other qualifications. Vice Presidents of Educational Resources and Associate Deans will be vigilant in collecting and verifying all required credentials documentation from each faculty member, both full-time and part-time. The Human Resources Department will receive faculty documentation, record the information in the Colleague system, and place the physical documents in the faculty member’s personnel file for future reference. College instructional administrators and the Human Resources Department will regularly communicate and cooperate to resolve faculty documentation issues.

6. Section 4.9 p. 50 Line 18 Educational Program

Recommendation
The Self-Study Committee recommends that the College District initiate and document a procedure and schedule for regular review and evaluation of all contractual and consortial agreements entered into by the District, including those established for the purpose of offering credit courses or programs and other educational services and programs.

7. Section 5.4.1 p. 59 Line 32 Educational Support Services

Recommendation
The Self-Study Committee recommends that information about student development programs and services consistently appear on college web sites and that information be made available to students currently enrolled in distance learning formats.

8. Section 6.3.7 p. 73 Line 15 Administrative Processes

Recommendation
The Self-Study Committee recommends that NHMCCD complete the review and revision of current policy and procedures and forward the recommendations to the Vice Presidents for Administration Council (VPAD) for implementation.
9. Section 6.6 p. 79 Line 15 Administrative Processes

Recommendation
The Self-Study Committee recommends that NHMCCD develop and adopt a policy regarding association with separately incorporated entities and the required documentation, and that a district wide review of all associations with separately incorporated entities be reviewed for compliance.

Summary of Suggestions

1. Section 4.9.1 p. 51 Line 1 Educational Program

Suggestion
The Self-Study Committee suggests that a quality program at the local level be assured through the establishment of consistent and systematic College District procedures for participation in the Virtual College of Texas. The Virtual College of Texas (VCT) has established generic procedures in their Operations Manual to enable host and provider colleges to maintain a quality program. While NHMCCD may be following many of these procedures, systematic and consistent procedures at the District level have not been established.

2. Section 5.1.5 p. 56 Line 36 Educational Support Services

Suggestion
The Self-Study Committee suggests that the District representatives for each library consortium review the various agreements to ensure that they provide for regular evaluation.

3. Section 5.1.6 p. 57 Line 1 Educational Support Services

Suggestion
The Self-Study Committee suggests that in light of the rate at which library services have increased, the institution continue to assess the effectiveness of staffing levels in order to be able to participate in the planning and budgeting processes as appropriate.
4. Section 5.4.3.5 p. 61 Line 27 Educational Support Services

Suggestion
The Self Study Committee suggests that NHMCCD establish district-wide financial aid procedures allowing for autonomy (since the population that we serve differs). These procedures must be approved by the Financial Aid Council and be accessible to all campuses. The District Director of Financial Aid should be responsible for implementing these procedures.

5. Section 5.4.3.5 p. 61 Line 34 Educational Support Services

Suggestion
The results are not always shared with the parties involved. Findings of the audit may not be addressed because the parties being audited are not aware of the findings. The Self-Study Committee suggests that the result of every audit (external and internal) be distributed to all the parties involved and appropriate actions be taken according to the findings.

6. Section 6.3.1 p. 69 Line 7 Administrative Processes

Suggestion
The Self-Study Committee suggests that because of the significant variances that appear in the Cost per Contact Hours compared with the state median costs (without overhead), the District should review the costs and the contact hours to determine why these specific discipline area differences are more than 25%.
